VETARZO BRAIN AND NERVE FOOD.

This remarkable compound, the result of the latest developments and achievements of modern chemistry, pharmacology, and therapeutics, is without equal in all cases of defective nerve power, whether induced by worry, over-work, unhealthy climate, dissipation, excess, youthful imprudence, or other influences incidental to the wear and tear and haste or overstrain of modern life. Sleeplessness, tremblings, palpitation, nervous dyspepsia, low spirits, mental and bodily prostration, muscular and local weakness, general and nervous debility, faulty nutrition, premature decay or deficiency of the vital forces, impaired vitality, harassing dreams, night disturbances, sudden startings, dimness of sight, defective hearing, loss of memory, inability to perform the various duties of life, or to enjoy its pleasures, restlessness that can settle to nothing, irritability of temper, female complaints, hysteria, painful periods, backache, bearing down sensations, nervous headache, wasting disease, night sweats, and all other phases of brain and nerve exhaustion, are successfully combated by this highly scientific preparation. Bracing up the system generally, it gives tone to the exhausted nerves, arrests all weakening wasting discharges, involuntary losses, &c.; restores the failing energies, and imparts new life and vigour to what had so recently seemed worn out, "used up," and valueless.

VETARZO BLOOD MEDICINE.

Never before was there anything like it, nor can its marvellous properties ever be equalled in all cases of poorness, impurity, or other imperfection of the blood from whatever cause arising. No sooner is it imbibed into the system than it permeates and penetrates to the minutest capillaries, overcoming and expelling the virus of disease wheresoever and in whatsoever form met with; removing all blotches, pimples, scurf, scurvy, scrofulous and glandular swellings, discolorations, roughness and unsightly patches, &c. Its effects are almost magical in the treatment of gout, rheumatism, sciatica, lumbago, pains and swellings of the joints, discharges, secondary symptoms, eczema, lepra, psoriasis, bad legs, bad breasts, abscesses, ulcers, sores, goitre or Derbyshire neck, & improves the general health, and quickly removes long-standing bronchitis, asthma, and hacking, straining, spasmodic cough, too often the precursor of consumption.

CAUTION.—Ask for "VETARZO Brain and Nerve Food," or "VETARZO Blood Medicine," whichever is required, and see that you get them, as unprincipled vendors often try to palm off inferior preparations (usually their own manufacture), for the sake of extra profit. Price in England, 2/9. Every genuine bottle of these medicines bears the British Government Stamp with the words "VETARZO REMEDIES" impressed thereon, in white letters on a red ground, by direction of His Majesty's Hon. Commissioners. Registered Trade Mark "VETARZO." Legal proceedings will be taken against persons pirating.

COMMON SENSE IN A NUTSHELL.—A NEW medical work on the causes and most scientific and effectual means of self-cure ever discovered for nervous exhaustion, depression of spirits, want of zest and energy, &c., with practical observations on marriage and full directions for removing certain disqualifications that destroy the happiness of wedded life. It also treats on urinary derangements, secondary symptoms, stricture, &c., and no sufferer should fail to procure a copy. Post free in plain envelope on receipt of Postal Order Sixpence, from THE VETARZO REMEDIES Co., Gospel Oak, London, or of Agents for above medicines. Price 10 annas Post Free.

LIVERPOOL COTTON MARKET.

MESSRS. TATA SONS and Co.'s Liverpool friends writes:—

Since our last letter, the market has advanced about 0·25d. for the current month, and about 0·10d. for new crop positions.

The position of the current month, which, in America, is completely controlled by the bull clique, is becoming extremely dangerous to those who are short, and we again repeat the urgent warning we have so frequently given to our friends who have sales open to cover without delay.

It is stated that the clique is making preparations to ship the whole of the New York stock over to Europe during August; this may be exaggerated, but it shows what ideas are entertained. And as previously mentioned, we know of firms here who have made preparations to take up all cotton tendered to them, and they are heavily long. So far, however, the tenders for the whole of this month only amount to 200 bales!

We hear, on excellent authority, that, in consequence of the retreating prospect of early relief from the new crop, arrangements are being made to carry on the bull campaign into August-September.

The rains reported from the West on Thursday last seem to have given little relief; every day our cables report insufficient moisture, and continued dry weather is predicted.

One American friend writes very strongly about the new crop position. He says:—

"The vital factor in the market is the unfavorable condition of the new crop. If, with the big supplies carried over from the 14 million crop, prices could at one time be forced to 16 1-2c., there is no question that, in view of depleted stocks of raw and manufactured material, the coming crop may sooner or later sell at 20c., unless crop prospects improve speedily."

In the meantime there is a marked increase in spot demand here; the last few days the sales have frequently reached 8,000 to 10,000 bales, and for this cotton spinners are paying 1 1-4d. per lb. more than the price of new crop futures. Our American friends also report a better demand from the trade, and state that mills there are readily paying 20 to 30 points more than what Europe is prepared to pay. This is an indication that the trade is slowly abandoning the idea of a lower range of values.

The Board of Trade returns for July, while indicating a shrinkage in our cotton cloth and yarn exports, in consequence of short supplies, give striking evidence of continued progress in nearly all other branches of industry, and the percentage of unemployed is now at a very low figure.

With good trade prospects, we believe, it will require a crop well over 14 millions to supply all spindles which will be ready for work during next season. So far, however, there is very little propect of such a yield; the general idea is that it can hardly exceed 12 millions, and this, we think, would not allow prices to go below 7d., whereas we may go considerably higher—we hardly dare say how many pence more for fear of being thought extreme. There is, of course, still time for improvement, but there is also the possibility of further deterioration, and we are now in the critical month.

With regard to prices, new crops having advanced about 0.50d. since we advised buying these positions, we prefer to watch weather developments before offering further definite advice about late deliveries, although 7d. to 7 1-4d. may now be considered too cheap for January to June.

We have, however, a very strong opinion of August and August Sept. delivery. Our repeated warnings against being short have been well founded, and we congratulate ourselves that we have persistently refused to execute the large volume of discretionary selling orders we have on our books. The present supply of cotton is in strong hands, and it seems quite likely that the short interest, being unable to find cotton to fulfil its contracts, will be compelled to cover at much higher prices. Quite apart from what other positions may do, we should not be at all surprised to see August go to 8 1-4d. or 8 1-2d. and A/S follow closely in its wake.

EGYPTIAN COTTON.

This growth has not moved much during the week, prices being about the same level as when we wrote last. Crop advices from Egypt are most satisfactory at present, the plant having a fine appearance. It will be remembered that last year, too, crop prospects were at one time brilliant, the change for the worse being very sudden, and the memory of this deterioration causes a certain apprehension regarding the present crop. One Alexandria friend writes:—

"Our drainage has not appreciably improved since the last crop, which may cause serious damage, and consequently we may see higher prices as we approach picking time."

On the other hand, the decision of the Government to continue the rotation system until the end of August, whereby the supply of water to growers will be strictly regulated, even when the Nile rises, may do much to remedy the evil of infiltration, and it is looked upon as an important and welcome innovation.

The position in Bolton seems distinctly better. More business is doing at better prices, and although these may not yet be exactly remunerative, it is at any rate the promise of better things to come.

With regard to prices, we are sometimes asked whether we could advise selling Egyptian and buying American, at present prices, but although this may have arguments in its favour, we prefer to-day not to express any definite opinion.

LORD KITCHENER'S GOLF.

GEORGE SAYERS, the North Berwick professional, who has been teaching Lord Kitchener Golf, writes as follows in the "Daily Mail" about his pupils' early efforts:—

Among all my pupils—and a good many have now passed through my hands, from royalty downwards—I have had extremely few who showed so much promise in the early novice state as Lord Kitchener. He appeared to be suited naturally to the three-quarter swing, and gave indication in his very first round of interesting possibilities in the long game.

As a matter, of course, he repeatedly duffed and topped his shots, but the beginner who did not make many mistakes would, indeed, be a marvel. I was hardly prepared, however, for his excellent finish. His first drive for the home hole at North Berwick, although encouraging, seeing that he carried the road safely, did not satisfy him, and he followed up this effort by a really surprising straight drive to a distance of fully 180 yards.

The long game is so far his best. At the third attempt over the private course on Saturday he astonished me by his steadiness and straightness in driving. I refer to his play off the tee, but, through less consistent through the course, he will doubtless improve considerably with practice. He played some capital shots with my Dreadnought driver.

His approaching and putting are not yet on a par with his driving from the tee, but I had to tell him only once how to stand for approaching and putting. There was no occasion to direct him a second time. Having got a style so naturally for the short game, I confidently expect that he will quickly improve. He has every appearance of thoroughly enjoying the royal game.

ANOTHER INSTANCE of the German's national passion, incomprehensible to foreigners, for assuming military accoutrements on the smallest excuse, occurs in a Royal Decree published a few weeks ago. The edict confers upon all chief firemen the right of wearing an officer's sabre with gold sword belt, provided that the during their military service they reached the rank of a sword-bearing non-commissioned officer. Though the officers of the corps, being retired military officers, already carry sidearms, the ordinary firemen must now be added to the vast number of German officials who carry about with them swords, for which in no conceivable circumstances they can ever find any possible use.

THE RETIRED DEWAN OF JANJIRA.

Hirabag Entertainment.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE "BOMBAY GAZETTE."

SIR,—I read with much pleasure the speeches made at the entertainment, given to Mr. R. G. Pradhan, retired Dewan of Janjira, by his friends and admirers at Hirabag, Bombay, published in the issue of the "Advocate of India" of the 15th instant, and I was surprised to see that Mr. Pradhan is represented as being the "means" of the high achievements of the State. I have known His Highness the Nawab Saheb of Janjira personally for over a quarter of a century, and I am in a position to know better than any outsider, all about Janjira. I am also thoroughly acquainted with the admiration of Mr. Pradhan. I, therefore, confidently assert that everything good that we see in the State and the highest honours bestowed upon His Highness and the raising of the status of the State are entirely due to the administrative genious and excellent character of His Highness, well known to the Paramount Power. The speech delivered by Mr. Deshpande, Chairman of the entertainment committee, is based on entirely wrong information supplied to him. No doubt Mr. Pradhan was an exceptionally lucky Dewan, because it was a mere accident that he happened to be Dewan, when, after a short time after his assumption of office of Dewan, some of the highest honours were bestowed upon His Highness. But certainly Mr. Pradhan was not the "means" nor had his administration as Dewan, any concern in the achievements. Mr. Pradhan is fully conscious of this, and darenot deny the fact. Had Mr. Pradhan himself taken an exception, in clear terms, to the wrong portion of the speech, he would simply have done his duty to the State and shown gratefulness to his most generous and kind patron (who actually had honoured him more than he deserved when leaviing office) and would have saved us the trouble of running to you to make matters clear.—Yours, etc.,

TRUTH.

STANDARD BAROMETER READING.

The reading of the barometer at the Colaba Observatory corrected for index error and reduced to 32° F. and for Calcutta standard at 8 a. m. (local time) on the 29th August was 29·757 inches. The height of Observatory barometer cistern above zero of the tide gauge at Apollo Bunder is 47 feet. The height of tide in the stream above zero of the tide gauge was 13 feet at 8 a. m. (local time). The temperature correction for a mercurial barometer, supposing the reading to be 30·00 inches and that of the attached thermometer 80° F. will be ·14 inch and this will be higher and lower by ·01 inch for each 4 degrees. In the case of the aneroid no temperature correction is required. Should the height of barometer cistern, either mercurial or aneroid above zero of tide gauge be different from 47 feet, it will read higher or lower by ·01 inch for each 11 feet. The readings given above are distinct in from those given in the daily weather report, to which different corrections have been applied.

ROLLS MEMORIAL AVIATION SCHOOL.

Progress is being made with the scheme for the founding of an aviation school as a memorial to the late Hon. C. S. Rolls, and several offers of practical assistance have been received.

Mr. Patrick T. Alexander has expressed his willingness to equip a laboratory, and a number of subscriptions have been forwarded to the Aerial League. In addition, the gift of a freehold site has been promised. Thus it will be seen that the proposal is assuming practical shape, and the whole matter will be carefully considered by an influential committee, consisting of prominent experts in aerial science, leading educationists, and others.

Special importance is attached to the establishment of the school on such lines as will enable it to supplement the theoretical instruction provided in the principal engineering colleges and polytechnics throughout the country. The highest education authorities have been approached, and their cooperation has been secured with the object of ensuring that the scheme shall be carried out on sound lines, and of enabling the school to be established without overlapping the work already done in existing institutions. No matter what sum may be subscribed, it is intended that only a moderate amount shall be spent during the first year. Experts who have been consulted depreciate the spending of more than £20,000, or £30,000, during the first twelve months. It is desired at the commencement to avoid extravagance, which does not necessarily secure efficiency and may render it difficult later on, when the scheme is in full operation and practical results can be shown, to justify additional support from the general public or grants from Government and public bodies.

The need for such a school in England was emphasised by an official of the Aerial League. He mentioned that in France there were already half-a-dozen aeroplane factories in full work, and he went on to say that though it was stated that in England the development of aerial science was proceeding most satisfactorily, seeing that a number of Englishmen were proving themselves experts, and were flying almost as well as foreigners, that statement was misleading, inasmuch as English aviators learned to fly aboard, and were compelled to use foreign machines. The object of the school would not be to teached men to fly in machines purchased abroad, but to ground in the actual manual work involved in the construction of their own machines.

AEROPLANES IN WAR.

It is apparent that the naval and military authorities intend at last to take a practical interest in the aeroplane—primarily as a reconnoitring and despatch-carrying craft in war-time, says the special correspondent of the "Daily Mail" at Blackpool. Capt. Bertram Dickson, an artillery officer who has become an expert airman, is to superintend a number of special tests for the authorities. On Salisbury Plain, where Capt. Maitland, of Warley Barracks, is to fly an aeroplane shortly, military experts will witness demonstrations. In addition Mr. Grahame White is to amplify his over-fleet flying by a series of practical experiments. At the recent Bournemouth flying meeting officers from the Balloon School at Farnborough were observing the performances of the various machines. At the Lanark meeting the Mail's correspondent understands that War Office experts were present. Studying the military potentialities of aircraft at Blackpool is Col. C. F. Grantham, a cavalry officer, who has seen much active service, and who from his connection with the Lancashire Aero Club has a knowledge of practical airmanship. "What should be done at the forthcoming manœuvres," he declares, "is for three or four British aeroplanists to be attached to the forces. The general in command should make every possible use of them for reconnoitring work and despatch-bearing between the various columns. With biplanes and monoplanes such as are now obtainable, highly efficient work should be possible. Such a test under war conditions would inevitably teach us an amazing lesson regarding the growing significance of airmanship."

JUDGMENT in the Kulna Sedition case will be delivered this morning at 10-30.

ON Saturday evening an oil painting of late Mr. G. Parameswaran Pillai, editor of the "Madras Standard," was unveiled at the National Club which was founded by Capt F. J. R. V. Hunt, High Court Judge Trivandrum.

TIRED,
WORN-OUT, RUN DOWN.

Conditions we so often find in, and so often are we unable to find a cause. We grow tired over ordinarily easy work, old before our time, listless and lifeless and without energy or ambition. Appetite grows poor sleepless nights are passed no desire for work or pleasure. Then troubles of the nerves, the head, the stomach, liver, bowels, blood, in fact, the entire system is undermined and overcome. Such an array of system is appalling—but liability of same is certainty. Blood and nerve diseases are silent and insidious and do deadly work with little warning. At the first sign of the smallest symptom of nerve disorder get in touch with that King of all remedies.—

Prof. James' Electro-Tonic Pearls.

Their marvellous curative effects are manifested from the first day of their administration by a remarkable increase of nerve and Intellectual Power, with a feeling of courage, strength and comfort. THE ANTI-GIPSY CAMPAIGN.

THE future of the gipsy has become a problem in Europe and in America, and Governments are perplexed as to what to do with them. Concerted effort by European Powers to drive from Europe all bands of Romanies has been contemplated—merely because they are gipsies. The United States, in their anti-Romany campaign, tell us that while there is still a stigma attached to the name Gipsy everywhere, the blow is not directly aimed at Romanies, but it has recently been discovered that many anarchists have evaded the police and fled, making their way into other countries by means of truly innocent gipsy camps. It is felt in the States that in course of time many of those refuges Romanies will probably seek the two Americas where already from Canada to South America thousands roam and it is not to be expected that those who now consider the Western hemisphere their home will welcome such intruders any too cordially. The real American Romany is said to be well off, and not to raid or resort to beggary and theft to live. But upon his shoulders must fall the brunt and blame of misdeeds of the foreign type who take with them many ways of their old-country life, where begging is possibly the least unpleasant of gipsy habits; where kidnapping by Romanies has occurred in the United States, it has been done by those of the foreign type. For the sake of the American gipsy it is hoped that they will be permitted gradually and thoroughly to learn the lessons of the country, for they recognise that there is good in them, and that they are not necessarily thieves, kidnappers, liars and personally unclean. In England that fact has long been recognised and with a desire to treat them according to their merits a House of Lords' Committee was some time ago appointed to consider generally the subject of Movable Dwellings. That Committee, which has just sent in its report, finds that the public grievances which arise from the conditions under which the occupiers of these dwellings live are real grievances, though the districts where they are considerable are comparatively few, and though even there the evils connected with them are not so serious as those connected with other nomads with whom they are often confounded.

As to the gipsies themselves it is found that their standard of living is generally above that of the agricultural population and that they are ordinarily more cleanly in their habits, far preferable to the hop-picker and pea-picker who are more of a menace, an intolerable nuisance and indeed a terror to any neighbourhood they may be in. According to the Chief Commissioner of Surrey, the county most frequented by those interesting people, in the period reported upon by him, there was only one crime of violence brought home to a gipsy. He does not regard them as a criminal class; whilst tramps are, and all the burglaries in his district were committed by them, though in the first instance in every case gipsies in the localities concerned were suspected. Nevertheless, proceeds the report, the gipsy has rather primitive views as to the rights of property, especially in respect of what grows or moves on the earth, in a more or less wild state, and stick-cutting, poaching and petty pilfering are common enough. Beyond this he seems to demand food and water with something in the nature of threats and where he exists in large numbers by his petty lawlessness and unconventional life and demeanour he constitutes a serious grievance to the orderly members of the public, whilst his wandering character makes it difficult for local authorities to make him responsible for any breaches of the law of which he may be guilty. In Surrey where they most abound it is felt some remedy for the present evil is demanded. Their mode of life has produced complaints against them on sanitary grounds too. Where they are encamped in numbers they have not the haziest notions of modern sanitary precautions. Pollution of water and other nuisances in the technical sense seem likely to ensue, with consequent injury to the public health.

How to deal with them was a question which puzzled the Committee considerably. Increased interference by the local authorities would merely end in hunting them from place to place. No doubt, say they, if such a policy were pursued to its logical conclusion, these people, whose mode of livelihood is by no means altogether reprehensible, might be driven, as the phrase goes, off the face of the earth. That was, indeed, the avowed object of some of the witnesses who were in favour of drastic regulations. In the opinion of the Committee, we are glad to find, this would be an extreme and inequitable remedy; on the other hand, anything short of this extremity would merely have the effect of removing the evil from one property or one district to another property or district, or from one county to its neighbour. Moreover, there is another defect in this policy, for whether regulations are made entirely or locally there is an almost insuperable difficulty in enforcing them upon offenders who are gone before the offence is discovered and even a system of registration, if it were otherwise admissible would do but little to overcome this difficulty. Mr. Justice Bray has an alternative plan to that of driving them off the face of the earth. He holds that whenever a County Council considers that these non-dwellers are in such numbers as to involve the evils alluded to, they should be empowered to provide camping-grounds for them under conditions prescribed by the Local Government Board—which would without irritating them place them under reasonable supervision. The House of Lords Committee favours the idea of Mr. Justice Bray, and would have the county authorities acquire land, supplied with water and within easy distance of police supervision. Of course all counties would require to go to the expense incurred, for some, seldom if ever, are trodden by Romany foot. It is not suggested either that there should be many such grounds, but only so far apart as might be covered in a fair day's march. Even in Surrey it would not be necessary to provide more than twenty such camping places and only a nominal fee, if any, need be charged. In this way the gipsy may make himself unobjectionable and would in England as they hope many in America "gradually and thoroughly learn the lessons of the country." Those of India, whether true Romanies or not, may be left as they are for the present at all events, for it is useless trying either to regulate their movements or to prevent them camping where they will and remaining as long as they choose.

WASTE OF TIMBER. TIMBER is one of the indispensable adjuncts to man's life even more in his civilised than in his unregenerate days when he needed it chiefly for fuel. In modern times coal has helped it out as a calorific. Iron, steel, stone, cement and many other materials in turn do the work of wood or supplement it. But in spite of all these aids to economy and in spite, too, of all warnings from experts in forestry that the timber supply of the world will give out if it continued to be ruthlessly exploited without making provision for adequate renewal, the consumption of wood in every form is increasing entirely out of proportion to the growth of the population of the universe. It is, we fear, a case of not recognising the duty we owe to posterity, of leaving our heirs a sufficient supply of timber for all their wants. The careless formula, "it will last our time," if not uttered, is acted on in much too light-hearted a manner by the present generation as it has been by many now gone. But there are people, some of them prophets, who have surveyed the timber resources of this planet. They say we must either call a halt or restore to the world the forests of which it has been denuded. Six countries may be said to provide all the wood wanted by mankind, Russia, with Finland, Austria-Hungary, Norway, Sweden, Canada and the United States. Three of these, Russia, the United States and Austria find their own requirements growing so rapidly that they must soon stop exporting timber, and Norway is in danger of exhaustion within a measurable period. Canada then remains the great reserve. Great Britain trebled her imports of timber during the 40 years ended in 1900, though her population increased by only 42 per cent. The United States more than doubled their consumption, a proportion far larger than would have been indicated by the growth of the people, and it was three or four times more than the country itself produced. Meanwhile timber is rising rapidly in price. Pine is double what it was. Teak, 50 per cent. dearer and American black walnut almost unattainable.

THE FRENCH NAVY. THE competition in rapidity of naval construction, which has been proceeding between England and Germany, is naturally having its effect on the other Powers of the Continent. Austria, as we know, has recently, at the behest of her ally, Germany, increased her building programme and has provided for the construction of a dockyard in the Adriatic, which will accelerate considerably future additions to her fleet. Now France, having completed a great deal of the reorganisation of her marine department, is also pushing forward. Two new battleships have been recently ordered and it is intended that they shall be completed in about half the time which the building of a French battleship has hitherto taken. The first is to be built at Brest and the second at Lorient, the port on the Brittany coast, for the suppression of which there has recently been some agitation in Parliament. It is hoped that the vessels will be ready to be commissioned in three years' time. This seems, writes a Paris correspondent, to border on temerity if one remembers that most modern French battleships have taken six years to construct; but, in reality, there is no grave obstacle to prevent this much more rapid construction. Although strikes have been a great hindrance in the past, the chief reason for delay was the incapacity of the central administration, which placed orders here and there without regard to their sequence. In this way the six battleships of the "Patrie" type lost eighteen months, because they had to wait for boilers and turrets which were ordered eighteen months too late. The "Danton" was set back a year and a half because her boilers were delayed, and nearly two years because of the turrets.

A HUNDRED YEARS OF PEACE. A MOVEMENT has recently been formed in America and is receiving enthusiastic support to organise a public Anglo-American celebration of the completion in 1914 of one hundred years' peace between Great Britain and the United States. The Washington correspondent of the Times says that a committee under the chairmanship of Mr. Andrew Carnegie is taking up the matter, while one of the chief promoters of the idea is Mr. McKenzie King, the Canadian Minister of Labour. Great Britain, Canada and the United States should all combine to give this centenary a celebration worthy of its importance and significance, and we hope very soon to see an announcement that steps are being taken in Great Britain to respond to the suggestion which comes from overseas. It is a most appropriate fact that as this anniversary approaches, the one dispute of importance between the two countries is being arbitrated at the Hague, and it is therefore not too much to hope that the anniversary of the signing of the Treaty of Ghent may see two great nations, between whom such close relationship exists, in perfect agreement upon every subject which has any bearing on their mutual interests. In Canada there has lately manifested itself an avermastering sentiment for closer relations with the United States which will secure the permanent peace of the North American continent. A celebration such as this would quicken the feelings of friendship with which the two countries regard each other and might lead to a nearer rapprochement, the memorable results of which it is yet impossible to foreshadow.

THE ANNEXATION OF KOREA. JAPAN is wise formally to annex Korea and no one has a right to say she shall not, provided she gives them the same commercial facilities as before; for virtually she has governed the country since the abdication of the Emperor Yi Heui. Before the war between China and Japan, China was suzerain but relinquished that suzerainty and the independence of Korea was acknowledged. But the Emperor was incapable and his Ministers useless. The paramount interest of Japan in Korea was acknowledged by the treaty after war between Russia and Japan and the external affairs and political relations of Korea have been controlled and directed by Japan ever since. After the abdication of Yi Heui all laws and ordinances have had to receive the sanction of Japan's Resident General and she has also conducted all matters of importance, including the appointment of high officers. Really Japan has ruled for the last three years and the change is practically one in name alone.

MILITARY MATTERS.

(FROM OUR MILITARY CORRESPONDENT.)

LONDON, August 12.

EFFICIENT TERRITORIALS.

THE Chief Director of Operations, Lieut.-General Sir Charles Douglas, who preceded Sir Ian Hamilton as Adjutant-General of the King's Forces, has made some complimentary remarks on the operations of the Territorials. Sir Charles is widely known as a thorough soldier—most capable in the field of war, an able administrator, and a stern service disciplinarian. During the conference of officers—the pow-pow after the action—and having heard all the pros and cons for this and that movement, and stroke during the battle, General Sir Charles Douglas addressed the officers present. He said that the 9th Brigade of the 3rd Division of Regulars had not done so well as might have been expected. The Warwick Brigade of Territorials, he thought, had been extremely well handled. (It may be stated also that the Warwickshire Cavalry struck the Regulars upon the flank when the latter were far too much extended.) Red had committed the great mistake at first of trying to cover too much ground—more than was requisite for the defence of Silk Hill. Their leader had, however, seen his error, and tried to correct the mistake during the course of that section. Again, General Douglas repeated, the handling of the Warwick Brigade (T.) was admirable. They closed in quickly, and in real good order, to deliver their attack. The Worcestershire and Gloucester Brigades (T.) were not quite so smart or so good; but there was no question about the excellence of the first attacks. Red, having a point of three miles in first, put in quite beyond his power to hold his position, and if the umpires had let matters proceed more quickly he would have been driven off; but General Burney had successfully hastened to correct the error. Having criticised Red's neglect of the important left flank, Sir Charles added that as a matter of fact Red was attacked and struck first upon the left. His artillery was not well placed upon Holme's Clump, though the way in which the Territorial Infantry came up secretly and smartly could not be bettered by anybody. Their guns and rifle fire must have destroyed their Red opponents. Blue's guns were not pushed enough to the front. He was able to say that the South Midland Division had been well trained, had worked hard, and had made most creditable advance since last year. They were a very efficient body of troops—the best he had seen upon the Plain—and were to be congratulated on their high state of efficiency.

ARMY OFFICER ARRESTED.

Lieut. Allan Sutor, Royal Artillery, stationed at Tynemouth Castle, and formerly at Colaba, Bombay recently published a pamphlet, entitled 'The Army System, or Why Muddle Through Thirty Millions a Year During Peace." It was printed by Andrew Dickson (Ltd.), Newcastle, "who have received a message from Lieut. Sutor to the effect that he is under arrest, and will be tried by court-martial for writing the pamphlet. Lieut. Sutor is enjoying considerable liberty, and a representative at South Shields was able to have an interview with him outside the Castle ground at Tynemouth. His book, he said, was the fulfilment of a desire he had had for ten years, but the immediate cause of the publications are more recent events. He went down to Aldershot, he explained, to go through a course of signalling, with a view to qualifying for an adjutancy in the Durham Artillery, which had been promised to him should he succeed in getting his certificate. He saw certain irregularities taking place, and, with the object of stopping them, he disclosed their existence to the sergeant-major, who was practically in charge of the school. "That is to say," the lieutenant added, "I talked to the sergeant-major as man to man, which, of course, technically is wrong, but which is a common custom—all depending upon whom you are talking to." Five or six days after this the commandant sent for Lieutenant Sutor. He told him that the incident had been reported, and demanded that he (Lieutenant Sutor) should give the names of the officers who had been guilty of irregularities, at the same time informing him that he was in possession of complete evidence of their guilt. "The commandant did not show me," Lieutenant Sutor added, "his evidence, and I was not prepared to make a charge against any officer. What I was prepared to do was to tell what I saw with my own eyes. Consequently I am kicked out of the school, which is against justice, discipline, and everything else. "But," he added, "I was prepared to put dignity in my pocket, although insulted." Lieutenant Sutor states that he had already been appointed adjutant of the Durham Artillery, but when he got home he was informed that the appointment was cancelled owing to his failure to gain a certificate. He was told his re-appointment would be considered at a court of inquiry. Discussing the topics of his pamphlet, the author observed that the war in the British Army is looked upon as a pleasing interlude in the serious business of tennis and croquet. We have not got serious men, and the lesson of the Boer War was that we must have serious men. You have a system that will contract; I want a system that will expand. Lieutenant Sutor said, he had not received any intimation that a court-martial had been ordered, and expressed a doubt as to whether the authorities would hold one, suggesting that they wished to avoid inquiry. Investigation was the thing he desired. Mr. Sutor explained that he had made his revelations because he felt he could not keep quite about them. He might have published his pamphlet under a nom de plume, but he did not believe in annoymity. He felt he must speak out about the service now, while he was in the army. He stood to lose heavily by what he had done. He might have joined the Special Reserve, at £100 a year, if he had held his tongue, but he could not do that.

GENERAL SCOBELL AND THE WAR OFFICE.

Correspondence which has passed between Major W. A. Adam, M.P., and the Army Council with reference to the action of Major-General H. J. Scobell, C.B., in reporting on certain officers and the subsequent attitude of the Council thereon, from the War Office. The War Office sent to the General the following letter in reply to his request for an inquiry, as he considered "his honour impugned" by Major Adam's statements:—

In reply to your letter of July 8, 1910, asking that an inquiry, should be instituted in regard to a statement made by Major W. A. Adam, M.P., in the House of Commons on June 27, to the effect that while in command of the 1st Cavalry Brigade you rendered confidential reports on certain officers, which reports contained wilful and deliberate misstatements of facts, I am commanded by the Army Council to inform you that a thorough investigation has been made of the reports rendered by you at that time on certain officers of the 5th Lancers, who were afterwards removed from the regiment, and to whom it is believed that Major Adam's statement bore reference. Major Adam is himself one of these officers. The Council also thought it proper to address a letter to Major Adam on the 23rd ultimo, inquiring whether he desired to forward for their consideration any statement in amplification or substantiation of his charge against you. On the 29th idem a reply was received from Major Adam to the effect that he had written to the Secretary of State for War on the subject, but his letter of the same date to the Secretary of State is found to contain nothing pertinent to the present investigation. The Council are satisfied that not only did your reports contain the unbiassed and conscientious opinion you had formed on the officers in question, but that the conclusions at which you arrived were correct, as they were afterwards borne out not only by the opinion of your successor in command of the 1st Cavalry Brigade, but also by a special report on the 5th Lancers made by his Royal Highness, the Inspector-General of the Forces, and confirmed by by the General Officer then Commanding-in-Chief the Aldershot Command. Further, as showing the absence of hostile bias, the Army Army Council note that, in the case of Major Adam, who in December, 1906, was called upon to retire from the Service in consequence of adverse reports which were duly communicated to him, you intervened on his behalf, and urged the Council to give him another chance in an extra-regimental appointment. In the result, it was decided to give Major Adam this chance. I am to add that the Council are of opinion that the charge brought against you by Major Adam is without foundation.

TRIBUTE TO LORD KITCHENER.

A warm tribute of praise is paid to Lord Kitchener in a book on his work in India just published by Major Maroix, of the 8th French Colonial Infantry Regiment. The author gives a detailed technical account of the reorganisation of the Indian army by its late Commander-in-Chief, for the practical thoroughness of whose methods he has great admiration. Commenting on the book, the "Temps" lays stress on the "remarkable results obtained by Lord Kitchener during his sojourn in India." He was upheld in this work by the home Government, by a corps of officers, including men of high worth and also by the loyalty of the native princes. His efforts coincided with those which Mr. Haldane pursued at the same time in the home country, but circumstances enabled him to advance further than the Minister of War along the path of realisation. Similar circumstances may lead the British Government to modify some of the dispositions taken by Lord Kitchener, but in the main there is no doubt that these dispositions are wise, and that they answer the permanent needs of the defence of India, which is so essential to the maintenance of Asiatic equilibrium.

TRAINING OF CADETS.

Below are given the terms of a circular memorandum which is being sent by the Army Council to secretaries of Territorial Force associations on the subject of the training of recognised cadet units:—

"Sir—The question having been raised as to whether the Army Council aim at standardising the training of recognised cadet units. I am commanded to inform you that such is not their intention. In the cadet regulations recently issued, they purposely refrained from laying down any set form of drill, military exercises, or rifle practice that cadets will be expected to carry out, and they desire that general officers commanding-in-chief will impress this fact on officers who may in future be detailed to officially inspect cadet units. Subject to the authority of county associations, and with due regard to the objects for which cadet units are recognised, the commanders of cadet units are left a free hand to organise and train their units in whatever way seems most appropriate. Neither as regards dress, equipment, or arms, is any rigid military standard insisted on by the Army Council—the carrying of arms, for instance, in a cadet unit is not indispensable—and, equally the exercises carried out by cadets need not be of too rigid a military pattern. Discipline, individual and collective, is essential, and drill of an elementary nature is to be encouraged; but gymnastic exercises, Swedish drill, signalling, scouting, swimming, despatch-riding, bridge-building, map-reading, and all forms of training that tend to produce physical fitness and to stimulate mental resourcefulness should, in the opinion of the Army Council, be regarded as being of not less value for lads than military drill pure and simple. This fact will, it is hoped, be borne in mind by inspecting officers, who, taking a broad view of cadet organisation and cadet training, should aim at encouraging, and should officially report on, those forms of manly exercise and technical instruction that come under their notice."

EARL ROBERTS AT THE BOYS' BISLEY.

Fine weather favoured the last day of the Boys' Bisley on Saturday, when the camp was visited and the prizes presented by Earl Roberts, who was accompanied by Lady Edwina and Lady Aileen Roberts. His lordship spent some time watching the shooting of the English boys for the Roberts Imperial Trophy, for which similar teams compete all over the Empire. When all the shooting was finished, indeed, all the work of the meeting, except the final dinner, the whole battalion was formed up near the council enclosure, where the band and a good company of the Shaftesbury School's boys were already on parade. Here the prizes were presented by Earl Roberts, all the officers, masters, and sergeants who have been engaged in the week's work being present, with Colonel Crosse and other officials of the National Rifle Association. The winners of the principal prizes were heartily cheered by their comrades, and the smartness of all, as they came up and saluted the Field-marshal, as well as the steadiness of the battalion on parade testified to the excellence of the drill instruction which has been given. When the last prize had been presented Lord Cheylesmore said the boys had behaved very wall during the camp, and their health had been as good as their conduct, in fact there had been no illness, except in the case of one boy, who had sprained his knee badly at football. The numbers attending were practically the same as last year and would have been more but for the illness there had been at St. Dunstan's which had seriously reduced the contingent from that school. Three schools which had hitherto attended had now become Officers Training Corps, and there had been some new schools in the camp. He thanked all the officers who had given assistance in this as in former years, and his lordship's reference to the services of Mr. Rasch and Captain Hardy evoked hearty cheers from the boys, repeated when the masters and sergeant-instructors were mentioned.

LORD ROBERTS'S SPEECH.

Earl Roberts, who was vociferously cheered said it was most satisfactory to have such an account as Lord Cheylesmore had given of the boys' good conduct. It was three years since he had visited the camp, when the members attending were not so numerous. Nothing could be better for boys than a week at Bisley learning habits of good other and discipline things without which they could not get on in the world. Order and discipline would result in their being kind and civil towards all below them, and obedient to those above them. The boys looked smart, for which they had to thank the officers and instructors; and all had been learning to shoot—a thing most important. whether presently they became soldiers or remained civilians, but civilians able to assist in the defence of their country. He was trying to persuade the country that every man should be able to help in its defence and for this they should begin young. What a closing call to the boys, whatever might be their work in after life to do their best in it, Lord Roberts called for cheers for Lord Cheylesmore, whom he thanked from the bottom of his heart for what he had done for the boys. Thus the business of the camp ended.

A DOG TAX.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE "BOMBAY GAZETTE."

SIR,—As a rule I agree with the opinions set forth in your articles, but with regard to a dog tax will you permit me to say that neither you nor Colonel Collie understand the question? I speak with thirty years' experience and an acquaintance with the effect of such a tax in a dozen different places in India, including Rangoon. Presumably the idea is: first, to get rid of the multitudinous canine "wastrels" which infest our streets and second, revenue. The imposition of a tax will do neither—the proceeds will not be worth the cost of collection. What will happen is:—first, constant irritation to the European community who will pay nine-tenths of the tax and whose dogs are not a danger to the community in that they are well-cared for, and second, no appreciable effect on the number of pariahs. The only solution is lethal chambers on the one hand, and compelling the police to do their duty on the other. Both are difficult, the former through caste prejudice, the latter because a native policeman is what he is.

There is a further aspect of the matter too which calls for remark. In England, this tax is "imperial." and an excellent tax it is; in India, it is local, an indefensible position. Two years ago, I paid tax in three different places in one year upon the same dog; had there been a tax in Bombay I shall have paid four. candidly, do either you or Colonel Collie consider such a thing equitable? I feel sure you do not; and therefore I am hopeful that when you weigh my contention as above set forth you will both see reason to modify your opinion and refrain from pressing a point which will only give rise to needless irritiation without any compensating advantage.—Yours, etc.,

FAREWELL TO THE VICEROY.

Ball at Simla.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

SIMLA, AUGUST 29.

Speaking at the farewell ball to the Viceroy and Lady Minto by the Simla Volunteer Rifles, Colonel Barrow said :—

"I feel I cannot let this occasion pass without asking you to join me in drinking the health of the principal guests of the evening. I refer, of course, to our Hon. Colonel, H. E. the Viceroy and Lady Minto. As our Hon. Colonel, the Viceroy has taken a keen interest in the corps, which has had a vitalising influence. His presence at our field days and camps of exercise has been a source of great encouragement to both officers and men. In fact, I may say, that it has been a source of encouragement to the whole cause of volunteers. As it goes without saying that when the head of the Government of India takes an interest in a movement, others must see and acknowledge the importance of that movement, which we represent and to which we are proud to belong. Any mention of His Excellency would be incomplete without a reference to Lady Minto. I am quite sure that we owe those pleasant entertainments and the lavish hospitality of Viceregal Lodge, which has been extended to us on her initiative, and the enjoyment of those entertainments have been much enhanced by the splendid histrionic talents of Lady Eileen Elliot. Gentlemen, with our hungry guests clamouring at the doors, I must of necessity be brief on behalf of the corps. I wish your Excellencies a regretful farewell. The names of Lord and Lady Minto will, I feel sure, linger long in the memories of the Simla Volunteer Rifles. Ladies and gentlemen, I ask you to fill your glasses and to join with me in drinking a bumper to the health, long life and prosperity of our Hony. Col., the Viceroy and Lady Minto."

Lord Minto made an appropriate reply, pointing out the importance of volunteering in India and thanked the members of the Corps for their hospitality.

RIPON COLLEGE, CALCUTTA.

Foundation Stone Laid.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

CALCUTTA, AUGUST 29.

The Lieut.-Governor this afternoon laid the foundation stone of the Ripon College started by Mr. Surendra Nath Bannerjee in 1882. The College was made public property last year and is managed by about 12 trustees.

Sir Edward Baker, in concluding a lengthy speech, said :—"I should like to take this opportunity to offer a word of advice in which I feel sure all true friends of education will concur. Let it be the care of trustees to see to it that the new Ripon College is maintained as a temple of learning, pure and undefiled, in which the politician and the agitator shall have no place whatever. I am not going to offer you a demonstration of reasons why students should be debarred from participation in politics. Those reasons have often been set forth by able voices than my own and are familiar to us all. The mater is no longer an open question, it has become an established principle which all must accept who embark on educational work. Funds for which college authorities are now appealing to the public are required exclusively for educational purposes and for no political object whatsoever. It is on that clear, express, and explicit understanding that I have agreed to be present here to-day and I think that those who respond to the appeal may rest assured that that condition will be honorably and unreservedly accepted.

DACCA CONSPIRACY CASE.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

DACCA, AUGUST 29.

The proceedings of the eighth day in this case commenced at 10-30 a.m. Mr. P. L. Roy with N. Gupta, Deputy Legal Remembrancer and H. Mullik appeared for the Crown and Mr. Baker, D. I. G. attended.

Mr. James Donald was examined and stated :—He was formerly District Magistrate, Faridpur. The witness identified a photograph of Nishib-husan, with a drawn sword in one hand and a buckler in the other, with a turban on the head and two young boys sitting at his feet. This photo was found in Pulin's house. Mr. Watson, Professor of Chemistry in Dacca College, then gave evidence in regard to some chemicals which he considered might be used as explosives.

The next witness sub-divisional Magistrate of Munshiganj, produced and proved a postcard, and a series of photographs of the postcard. This postcard appeared to have been written by Pulin Behary Das to one Sarudacharan Chakraverty, asking him to join the Dacca Anushilan samity at Dakhin Maishanidi, if he was prepared to sacrifice his life for the cause of the samity. The prospect was also held out in this letter of free board and lodging, and raiment and education in the samity. Cross-examination was reserved.

Monmohon Mundle stated that the accused Sasi Sarker promissed him and Eutajaly Rs. 200, and insisted on our keeping secretly a box containing guns, swords, pincers and other instruments, which were concealed in the jungle. They concealed the sword and pincers inside the hollow of a tree, and the box of arms in a field, and a gun and sword under a tree. We have seen Sashi practising at target near the bathing ghat.

The next witness Tara Nath Roy, stated :—"I, Kaliprasana, Lalbehari and others were present when witness Entazaly pointed out to the Sub-Inspector guns, swords and a box of arms, concealed in a tree and some under the earth. They were said to have been concealed at accused Sashi's request. Witness identifies the arms and the contents of the box including several house-breaking and boring instruments. Did not see Sashi after the Barrah dacoity.

The next witness Kulla Chandra Nandi (Dafadar) stated :—"I saw a samity in Shashi Busan Bosu's Furridapur house. Pulin started this samity and showed the boys how to play lathi. I saw Nishi play lathi in the Brathi samity. Pulin was not identified.

The next witness Uma Charan De (Faridpur), a peon, stated lathi-play used to be held in Hogla in a place near Bajani Sakhara's house. The place was called Annandamath. Boys used to shout Bande Matram. I saw Rajani Sarkar and his two sons and several other boys play lathi of about 3 1-2 cubits in length. I saw wooden daggers with the boys.

The next witness Phani Bhusan Sen, the headmaster, Madaripur School, stated.—"I was formerly Headmaster of the Habiganj High School. Accused Nisbikanta Roy Choudhry taught lathi-play at the Anushilan samity, Habiganj. I saw lathi and imitation dagger, play. I once saw a mockfight and an exhibition of skill in arms. I saw a real dagger. Then four or five strangers joined the mockfight. I also saw the strangers in the Chatrabandar. There was also a Mohukuma samity in Habiganj, its object was to spread education, settle litigation out of court and do other works of public utility. Accused Radhikabusan went to Habiganj to teach lathi. The Mohukuma samity bore the cost of the Anushilan samity. Rebaty Mohon Roy and Jogesh Dutt were the authorities of the Anushilan samity and Habiganj. There was a controversey about taking the vow, meaning implicit obedience to the leader.

The leader was not defined and Jogesh Dutt could not tell who was meant by the leader. It was proposed to mean the local leader, but I understood it could not be changed into that except by the authorities of the Dacca Anushilan samity. The boys of my school were forbiden to join a political movement and the Anushilan samity. They persisted in that for some time. Then after Sir H. Risley's Circular in scholarship was withdrawn from the school. There was a difference in the school committee about allowing the boys to join political movements and I left the school in consequence. The Court here rose for lunch.

The Court resumed after lunch at 2 p. m. Witness Taranath recalled proves that the search list is of arms kept by accused Sashi Sarker with Entazaly and Monmohan.

The next witness, Roy Dolegovinda Chaudhury, Bahadur, stated : "I was the jailor of Dacca. Santipada and Manikya were in jail as under-trial prisoners. Pulin, an under-trial, then a convicted piisoner, Jatirmoy, was also a convicted prisoner in the jail"

The next witness Aswini Kumar Guha, Inspector, stated I was formerly at Habiganj. I had to submit confidential reports about political matters. There was a central Anushilan samity at Habiganj. Pundit Raboti Mohan was the Secretary. It had branches all over. I saw lathi and dagger play in the samities by boys. Ashutosh Das Gupta (accused) went to teach lathi-play at Habiganj. Lathies were kept in a room in the samity. Nishi used to give order and paraded the boys in a military fashion. They played lathi in the fashion of rifle exercise. Swords and dagger plays were occasional. The gap through which the lathi play could be seen from outside the walls was shut up and outsiders not allowed to enter the samity. The samiti was removed to a secluded place with jungle on all sides. Police was deputed to watch the members of the samiti had the strictest injunction not to marry without the permission of Dacca leaders. Here the Court rose for the day.

MURDER ON THE HIGH SEAS.

Jurisdiction of Indian High Court.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

RANGOON, AUGUST 29.

The Full Bench, Chief Court, was engaged to-day to hear a reference made by two of Judges of the Court arising out of a murder case. A Burman named Po Taung was sentenced to death by the Sessions Judge, Tenasserim, for murdering his cousin, Maung Town, on the high seas on the 15th of December in a Burmese boat after a quarrel the previous evening.

Questions for decision of the Full Bench are these: Was the trial void ? for want of sanction of the local Government under Sec. 188 of Cr. Pr. Code. 1898 and is trying native Indian subjects for offence committed on high seas, was the Indian Penal Code or the law of England to be applied as substantial law governing the case.

Mr. Godfrey, Assistant Government Advocate, submitted that up to the enactment 36 and 37 Victoria, all authorities went to show cases committed on the high seas English law was administered according to the procedure in India under the Evidence Act.

Their Lordships felt the sanction of the local Government should be obtained in this case. Then Counsel submitted that Admiralty Jurisdiction in England which extended to Indian courts by Statute 33 George III subsequently repealed by Victoria 54 and 55 had not been ousted in any way end that it existed side by side with the jurisdiction of local courts as conferred in pursuance of the Indian, Indian Councils Act and embodied in Section 4 of Indian Penal Code and section 188 of Cr. Pr. Code. Judgment was reserved.

There were certain other documents which they would allow the plaintiff's counsel to inspect.

Mr. K. B. Dutt, counsel for the defence, said he had not yet received an affidavit of the documents, so he could not say anything at present.

The next witness was Ashutosh Dass, son of Peary Mohan Dass, who gave evidence corroborating his father.

Surendra Mookerjee was brought in handcuffed tied with a rope and surrounded by policemen. Inspector Lal Mohun Ghosh asked witness to request Surendra to make a statement like them and to act as they would act. He went to a room alone with Surrendra and latter said the police had been torturing him. He showed marks of violence committed by the police. Witness advised Suren to make a statement to save himself from being killed, but to tell the truth when produced in Court. Afterwards Moulvi took four forms out of his pocket gave one each to Santosh, Joten, Suren and witness, and told them made to learn the contists by heart. They tried for several hours. Suren was then made to make a statement which was taken down in writing then witness made his statement. Witness then detailed alleged facts to which police tutored him to speak to. Process of his tutoring by police lasted from 9 o'clock at night till one in the morning.

Hearing was adjourned.

CROP PROSPECTS.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

SIMLA, AUGUST 29.

News now coming in from the various provinces shows an unusually favourable outlook. The rains have been plentiful and on the whole so well distributed that there is at present in India no large area where a fair harvest does not promise. More rain will be required in the next four weeks to complete the crops, but there seems every prospect that this will be vouchsafed and even should the late showers prove defective a very considerable portion of the expected outturn may now be regarded as secure.

ALLAHABAD, AUGUST 29.

Wheat here has fallen in price from nine to eleven seers per rupee in consequence of the recent rains which are looked upon as very favourable.

Justices Harrington and Sharfuddin disposed of the appeal preferred by Abdul Saber and Abdul Kaiyum who were convicted by the Sessions Judge of Mymensing of concealing a gun during a house-search and sentenced to six months' and one year's imprisonment respectively and fine. Their Lordships held the appellants had without any premeditation attempted to conceal any bad weapon which was an ordinary gun for shooting game birds. Their Lordships sentenced accused to two months and 14 days' imprisonment and a fine of Rs. 200 each.

Professor Rammurti was fined Rs. 50 by the Magistrate of Chandpur for assaulting a ticket collector. On appeal Justices Holmwood and Teunon reduced the fine to Rs. 10 to-day.

THE POONA SEASON.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

POONA, AUGUST 28.

THE chief event of last week was the ball at Government House on Tuesday. It was the first big ball of the season and the first opportunity for the display of those coloured frocks which the mourning held in abeyance. Perhaps, the reaction after the long period of black and white was the cause of some of the rather bold ventures in colour schemes which were seen. The tendency now-a-days seems to be to obtain so-called smartness by means of excess and by wearing something that attracts attention to gain a reputation for fashion, the question of becomingness being quite an unconsidered trifle. In the matter of evening headgear, judging by the size of the present bandeaux or bandages, ladies, at the present rate of progress, will soon be wearing turbans like those in which their ancestresses used to sit to Lawrence. There were several pretty dresses at the ball, notably a dark pansy-coloured one worn by Mrs. Light and a pale blue one trimmed with white lace worn by Mrs. Reper. Mrs. Carmichael was also in pale blue and Miss Westmacott looked well in a rose pink chiffon over satin. Miss Thom, Miss Sloggett and Miss Palin were all in white. The ballroom this year is decorated entirely in yellow and white, and made a very effective setting for the brilliant uniforms and gay dresses. The police arrangements were admirable and the rule that prevents motor-cars passing when once in Ganeshkind grounds, was most exhilarating to those in horse-drawn vehicles. The rain was kind and held off for that night, but there were several heavy storms during the week, and there was no chance of any polo. Curiously enough it cleared up sufficiently every afternoon to allow the ties of the open tennis tournament to be played-off and as usual there was a fine day on Saturday for the races.

There were not many entries for the tennis tournament considering the numbers of players in Poona and its attractions for visitors at this time of year. The most interesting games in the men's singles were between Captain T. Lucas and Mr. Miller, both of Poona, and Captain Lucas won a hard-earned victory. Another keen struggle was between Glendinning and Molony and Clabby and Maxwell, the the two latter played well together and there were some very close games, but the visitors were too strong for them. Mr. Glendinning particularly bringing off some very skilful strokes at the net.

The tournament was all through a triump for the visitors and was also very much of a "one man show;" Mr. Molony carried everything before him winning the singles, the mixed doubles with Mrs. Hunt, and the men's doubles with Glendinning, but it was by no means a walk-over and both the Lucas gave them some hard games in the finals, in all of which one or other or both of them was playing. In the ladies' singles Miss Froom beat Miss McIver. The latter is the best lady player in Poona and has been playing very well throughout the two tournaments, but Miss Froom is at her best in singles and was quite invincible.

The open Badminton tournament was going on most mornings of the week from 8 to 10, and several ladies were "At Home" in the Badminton shed to the players and a large crowd of on-lookers. The singles were won by Mr. Sedgwick who beat Mr. Campbell in the finals, the mixed doubles by Captain G. Lucas and Miss McIver and the men's doubles by Mr. and Miss McIver and Captain Lucas who met last Mr. Clabby and Mr. Griffith.

The Poona and Kirkee hounds have again met four times in the week. Tuesday did not provide much sport, but on Thursday when the meet was at the 9th milestone on the Bombay Road there was a very long run. The jack apparently could not have taken a better line and for the first mile or two the going was excellent, but after that though it was nearly all over grass-land with very little plough, yet the country was as heavy as could be and the unfortunate horses staggered along like flies on Tanglefoot over the most deceptive short grass which looked as if it would provide as fast a gallop as any rider could desire. Hounds ran right away towards Shelarvadi Station and ran into the jack on the other side of the railway line not far from the 15th milestone on the Bombay Road. This crossing the line was the cause of a ducking to several riders for the only way for horses to follow was under a culvert through which ran a deep stream only formidable at one point which the reckless leaders of the field unluckily did not find. There was an unusually large number of ladies out, including Mrs. Dyke who was presented with the brush. On the way home the master tried a likely bit of cover and hounds did indeed turn out a jack, but they killed him after the briefest of runs. On Sunday a very large field turned up at the meet at Dighi. A jack was soon found who gave a semi-circular run through Bosri back to the Sisters behind Dighi, where hounds got him after some very pretty hunting. This occurred only a mile or so away from the meet and the majority of the field then went home very well content, for the pace and going had both been of the best, and only a few stayed on for the two runs which followed, both of which gave good gallops though there were no kills.

Better weather towards the end of the week allowed of the first big cricket match for some time and the wicket was in excellent condition. It was between the Poona Gymkhana and the B. B. and C. I. team, and was a most disastrous game for the home team, in spite of the efforts of Tillard and Barnham, but the B. B. and C. I. have an exceptionally strong eleven this year and include both those well known players Baloo and Warden in their team.

On Thursday and Friday numbers of people attended a very pretty entertainment at the Convent School, organized, under the patronage of H. E. the Governor, to provide funds for building a new recreation hall. The programme consisted of several songs and solos by girls of the school, some exhibition drilling and costume songs and a charming play in five scenes called "Goldenhair." The dresses and scenery were all excellent.

On Friday and Saturday the much-talked of "Raffles" was performed at the Gymkhana by the Amateur Dramatic Society and drew crowded houses on both nights. It was a huge success and there is no doubt that the general public had no idea there was so much histrionic talent in its midst. The elocution by the whole cast was distinctly good and they were all clear and easy to hear. There can be nothing but praise for Captain Grant's rendering of the part of Raffles. It was acting such as is seldom seen on the amateur stage, and in itself would have carried the play through even if the other characters had not acquitted themselves as well as they did. Another actor of great ability was Mr. Wyatt, who took the part of Bedford. The character suited him admirably, in fact, a great deal of the success of a play of this sort must be due to the right apportioning of the parts, a duty which is no sinecure for the secretary of an A.-D.-C. Captain Davis was a most realistic burglar and impersonated a typical Bill Sykes to the life. Mr. Craster as Lord Crowley supplied the comic element and was always sure of a laugh when he appeared on the stage. Captain Law was wonderfully well made up as Lord Amersteth and acted his part well. Mr. Bremner did his best as Bunny, but it was a difficult part to play. The minor parts of Merton and Goldby were ably represented by Messrs. Colson and Johnson. The ladies have been left to the last, partly because the programme treated them in this order and partly because the men's parts were undoubtedly more important. The part of leading lady was assigned to Mrs. Pratt, who is an actress of very great merit. She played the part of the treacherous Mrs. Vidal most convincingly and compelled attention whenever she was on the stage. Miss Lambert made an exceedingly dainty and attractive French maid and acted with a great deal of spirit, and Miss Sloggett looked charming as the "young girl," of the play. Mrs Wyatt and Miss Cochran both made the most of their parts. The band of the Royal North Lancashire Regiment played selections during the evening ; the whole play never dragged once from beginning to end, and the intervals were most commendably short, the huge clock through which Raffles escaped in the last scene, struck twelve with many chimes, as the play ended at mid-night, and thus emphasized the fact that Captain Davis as stage manager and Mr. Ridler, who arranged and provided the scenery, had both done their work admirably.

A LAST echo of the Patiala sedition trial comes from the United Provinces where Lala Jowala Pershad, Assistant Engineer, has now been reinstated in the Provincial Public Works Service to which he belonged before. Fortune took him to Patiala.

PRESIDENCY CRICKET.

Prospects of Rival Teams.

THE annual fixture between the Presidency and the Parsis will take place in Poona next week, the Triangular Matches between the Presidency, the Parsis and the Hindus coming off in Bombay in the subsequent week. The keen interest with which the prospects of the rival teams are being discussed in sporting circles testifies to the undiminished popularity of these fixtures, though the Poona contest seems to have lost half the enthusiasm which it formerly evoked, since the institution of the Triangular Matches three years ago. The fact that every year a goodly number of players on both the Presidency and the Parsi sides decline the invitation to participate in the Poona match, while readily intimating their willingness to play in the Bombay matches furnishes a clear proof of the waning popularity of the Poona fixture, and it is not improbable in the near future that the Triangular contest in Bombay may be thought quite sufficient and the Poona match be dispensed with. To return to the subject proper it appears that neither the Presidency nor the Parsis willbe able to get together strong Elevens for the Poona match. The Presidency will be without the services of Captain Greig, Napier and G. N. Foster. Mr. Cheetham will participate in the Bombay matches but is unable to get off for the Poona fixture. The Parsi team is practically the same that played last year; but like last year they will again be handicapped by the absence of K. M. Mistry of Patiala, M. Bulsara, K. B. Mistry of Ajmere and A. H. Mehta, all of whom have written to the Parsi Selection Committee, expressing their inability to go to Poona. Both the teams will thus be without the services of some of their foremost players.

THE PRESIDENCY.

The absense of Captain Greig in England will be a distinct loss to the Presidency, and so will be that of Napier. Greig has been quite an institution in connection with these matches, and it is impossible nowadays to think of the Presidency team without the "Great Little Man," as the Captain is popularly styled in cricket circles. It was he and Napier that practically won the Poona match for the Presidency last year, the former playing an invaluable innings, and the latter dismissing the Parsi team for one of the smallest scores ever made in these contests. Napier is at present stationed at Jelum in the Punjab. The absence of these two men is a handicap, big enough, but it is accentuated by the absence of G. N. Foster in England and of Lieutenant McCloughlin, who has not yet completely recovered from his last illness. And besides this, the Presidency will be without the services of Milne, also absent from Bombay ; and as stated above Cheetham is also unavailable for the Poona match though he will play in Bombay. Capt. N. M. Turner who is at present at Karachi will play at Bombay but not at Poona. The list of absentees is likely to be a formidable one and there does not seem any prospect of sufficient new talent being unearthed to fill up the gap. There are a couple of batsmen coming from Bangalore, and Lieutenant Brooke, who has been one of the mainstays of the Bombay Gymkhana, will also don flannels. The batting strength will not therefore be much below last year's, but the greatest anxiety is felt for the attack, which is sure to be considerably weaker. No new bowlers have yet been found who can come up to the standard of Presidency cricket, though there has been quite a plethora of mediocre talent. Turning to the availables, there are Sprott, who will captain the side, Lieutenant Brooke, Christie, Simms, Capt. Heath, Captain Tillard, Captain Milford and Lieutenant McCall. All of these are available and are regarded as certainties. The last two men are from Bangalore and are reputed to be fine bats. It will be seen from the above list that there is only one man, Simms of Sussex, at present residing in Jamnagar, who can be regarded as a class bowler. Captain Mitford is said, to be a good change-bowler; but besides Simms there is no other class bowler on whom the Presidency can rely. Under these circumstances Ward, who secured a magnificent analysis last week against the Parsi Gymkhana, will most probably be asked to play, and there is also a possibility of Jamieson of Ahmedabad being invited. Capt. Anstruther is also another possible member of the team. As already stated, the batting strength, though undoubtedly inferior to that of past years, will not be so weak as to cause grave anxiety; it is the weakness in their powers of attack which will considerably handicap the Presidency. The following is the possible team, the first eight of whom may be regarded as certainties:—

1. F. L. Sprott (Bombay).
2. Lieut. F. R. R. Brooke (Bombay).
3. Mr. E. E. Christie (Bombay).
4. Mr. Simms (Jamnagar).
5. Capt. Tillard (Poona).
6. Capt. Mitford (Bangalore).
7. Lieut. McCall (Bangalore).
8. Capt. Heath (Ahmednagar).
9. Mr. Ward (Bombay).
10. Mr. Jamieson (Ahmedabad).
11. Capt. Anstruther (Poona).

THE PARSIS.

The Parsi Selection Committee met yesterday evening, when the team mentioned below was finally selected for the Poona match. The team selected is practically the same that played for the Parsis at Poona last year. They are only three men who did not play last year, Cnothia, Dubash and Parekh ; they are, however, tried men, as they have participated more than once in the international fixtures and acquitted themselves creditably. It must, however, be admitted that the Parsis will be as much handicapped as the Presidency, as the two Mistrys, Bulsara and Mehta have all written to the Committee, intimating their inability to go to Poona. The Parsis were without the services of these players last year at Poona and will be so again this year. Bulsara will participate in the Triangular matches in Bombay but is unable to go to Poona. M. E. Pavri will be another absentee who cannot go up to Poona, though he will, like Bulsara, play in the Bombay fixtures. The Parsis, like the Presidency, will have only one class-bowler, Warden, on whom they can rely. Vatcha, Madon, and Parekh are fairly good change bowlers ; but there can be no comparison between them and Mistry, Bulsara and Mehta.

The following have been finally selected to play for the Parsis :—

1. Mr. R. P. Meherhomji (Capt.).
2. Mr. J. S. Warden.
3. Mr. M. B. Vatcha.
4. Mr. S. F. Madon.
5. Mr. J. J. Dubash.
6. Mr. H. F. Mulla.
7. Mr. S. M. Cnothia.
8. Kr. D. D. Driver.
9. Mr. D. K. Kapadia.
10. Mr. N. M. Dinshaw.
11. Mr. M. Parekh.

Reserves : Messrs. J. Elahidana and M. Umrigar.

Umpire : Mr. J. L. Billimoria.

Honorary Secretary and Scorer: Mr. J. M. Divecha.

THE HINDUS.

The team mentioned below will most probably do battle for the Hindus in the Triangular contests. All of these are well-known names, except Vithal, who is a new man. He is one of the cricketing quartette of Balu brothers and is said to be a fine bat. The final selection will be made next week, but of those mentioned below, the first six may be regarded as certainties :—

1. Mr. C. V. Mehta (Capt.)
2. Mr. P. Balu.
3. Mr. K. Seschari.
4. Mr. Shivram.
5. Mr. M. Pai.
6. Mr. W. Talpade.
7. Mr. Mehendale.
8. Mr. Ogbad.
9. Mr. K. Date.
10. Mr. Vithal.
11. H. H. the Thakore Sahib of Rajkote, or Mr. P. Erasha.

CALCUTTA VICTORIA MEMORIAL.

Difficulty about the Jail Site.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)
CALCUTTA, AUGUST 29.

I am able to state on definite authority that the version appearing in the "Statesman" in reference to the rumoured deadlock in regard to the building of Victoria Memorial is correct. The work has not been stopped nor will it be. The Bengal Government has applied to the Government of India for a loan of Rs. 26 lakhs, to meet the cost of a new jail and the Government of India have refused to advance the money, stating that the cost should be met out of current revenues. To this the Local Government replied that such a course would prevent it from being able to proceed with the base of the new jail and that the overcrowded state of the jails of the Province is such that they would be unable to vacate the Presidency Jail, there being no other accommodation for its 1,200 prisoners. The matter is by no means, closed and it is not expected the Government of India will persist in their refusal to sanction, the advance of the building of the Memorial will not be delayed as the jail site is only required for the garden though some inconvenience may be caused to the contractors, if it is not placed at their disposal by the expected date.

LEGAL INTELLIGENCE.

HIGH COURT.

CONSTRUCTION OF DOCUMENT.

Decree for the Plaintiff.

ON the Original Side of the Bombay High Court, the Hon'ble Mr. Justice Beaman has disposed of the suit brought by Motichand Sakarchand against Sha Narsey Tejsey and others for the construction of a document.

It appeared that in October 1896 the third defendant executed a writing by which, according to the plaintiff, she made an absolute gift to him of Rs. 4,000 or in the alternative gave a life interest of the money to his mother and the vested remainder to himself. The third defendant contended that upon a true construction of the document it would be found that she made no absolute gift of either of the kinds alleged. Her case was that she had reserved to herself so much interest at least in the corpus during her life-time as to prevent the plaintiff drawing it from the bankers or dealing with it as his own absolute property. Further there was a condition annexed to the gift to the effect that the plaintiff was not entitled to withdraw it, even after the death of the third defendant without the consent of the fourth and fifth defendants. The parties had now come to Court asking for the construction of the document, which was of a peculiarly complicated character.

His Lordship, in delivering his judgment, said that one objection upon which the defendants relied was that the deed of 1896 was not in reality a deed of gift at all but a will. The plaintiff protested against the defendants being allowed even to make such a suggestion. His Lordship did not think that the plaintiff had any real grievance against the defendants, because the question being purely a general question of construction, they had asked the Court to say that the instrument was a will and not a deed of gift.

His Lordship held that the plaintiff was right in the construction he contended for and decreed the plaintiff claim with costs against those defendants who had resisted him, including the costs paid by the plaintiff to the first defendant.

APPLICATION FOR RECEIVER.

ON the Original Side of the Bombay High Court, yesterday, the Hon'ble Mr. Justice Beaman heard the plaintiffs' notice of motion for the appointment of a receiver in the suit brought by Papa Miya Karim Mahomed and another against Haji Hiraji Kulloo for a declaration that the plaintiffs were the only rightful mutavalees of the mosques of the Bakur Kassi Jamat and of the properties appertaining thereto and that the defendant was no longer a mutavalee thereof.

Mr. J. D. Davar, instructed by Messrs. Captain and Vaidya, moved the notice absolute; the Hon'ble Mr. M. A. Jinnah, instructed by Messrs. Kanga and Sayani, showed cause.

The plaintiff stated that about 25 years ago the defendant and 11 others were appointed by the Jamat as mutavalees of the morque which is situated at Khadak in Bombay and the other at Bandra. All the other persons had died and about seven years ago the defendant alone became the sole surviving mutavalee of the two mosques and the properties appertaining thereto. The defendant before his removal from the post was in receipt of considerable sums of money. They further alleged that he had mismanaged the property and was using a part of the property for his own personal uses and that he had refused to allow members of the jamat to inspect accounts although called upon to give such inspection. They, therefore, prayed for various reliefs, among these being the appointment of a receiver pending the final disposal of the suit.

The defendant denied all the main allegations in the plaint and said that this was a vexatious application brought by those in whom the jamat had no confidence.

His Lordship dismissed the application with costs after hearing counsel.

Mr. Jinnah then offered inspection, the costs of which were reserved.

CLAIM FOR RENT.

Hearing of the Appeal.

ON the Original Side of the Bombay High Court yesterday, the Hon'ble the Chief Justice and the Hon'ble Mr. Justice Robertson heard an appeal from the decision of the Hon'ble Mr. Justice Dinshaw Davar who had passed a decree for the plaintiffs for Rs. 2,750 with costs in the suit brought by Bruel and Company against Sidik Haji Hussein.

The Hon'ble Mr. M. A. Jinnah and Mr. W. L. Weldon, instructed by Messrs. Thakurdass and Company, appeared for the appellant; the Hon'ble Mr. M. R. Jardine and the Hon'ble Mr. C. H. Setalwad, instructed by Messrs. Pestanji, Rustim and Colah were for the respondents.

It appeared from the facts of the case, that the plaintiffs sought to recover Rs. 3,300 alleging that the sum was due to them either as rent or as compensation for use and occupation of a certain godown in Clive Road for the months of December 1908, and January and February 1909, at the rate of Rs. 1,100 per month. The defendant used the godown for storing sugar bags and had paid to the plaintiffs the rent of the godown upto 30th November 1908. On the 5th December following, there was a fire in the godown. The fire destroyed the roof and several doors and windows and the sugar stored in the godown was partly burnt and partly damaged by fire and water. Immediately after the fire, the salvage corps of the Insurance Company or Companies with whom the sugar had been insured took possession of the godown and the goods in it. On the 9th December all the sugar belonging to the defendant that was damaged by fire was sold by the Insurance Companies to one Azam and possession of the godown with the sugar in it was given to him. On getting possession Azam commenced to sort the sugar according to the extent of damage done and to put the same in new bags and he did so till the 15th February.

The plaintiff, therefore, claimed three months' rent, but His Lordship passed a decree in his favour for Rs. 2,750 which was equivalent to two months' and a half rent with costs.

Against this decision the defendant appealed, and after hearing the arguments of counsel their Lordships reserved their judgment.

HIGH COURT PROTHONOTARY.

A Brilliant Career.

MR. LIMJI N. BANAJI, Bar.-at-Law, a most popular prottonothary of the Bombay High Court, retires from Government service from 1st October next, after a long and meritorious service, extending over 39 years. The services rendered by Mr. Limji have been very valuable and greatly appreciated by all the succeeding Chief Justices of the High Court.

Mr. Limji joined service on 10th April 1871 as acting deputy clerk of the Crown and in November 1877 was appointed head assistant to the prothonotary and acting deputy clerk of the Crown. In the year 1890 he acted for a few months as a fourth judge of the Bombay Small Causes Court. After that period having worked as acting prothonotary on various occasions, on 13th June 1898, he was made permanent and which post he has occupied upto his retirement.

It is probable that Mr. A.M. Kajiji, who has once acted as prothonotary and who has been his assistant for a number of years, will be appointed in his place.

THE ITOLA DISASTER.

Claim Against Railway Company.

ON the Original Side of the Bombay High Court, yesterday, the Hon'ble Mr. Justice Dinshaw Davar recorded the de bene esse examination of Dr. Kankak of Baroda in the suit brought by Yeshwantrao Savleram Gaekwar against the Bombay Baroda and Central Indian Railway Company to recover Rs. 20,000 by way of compensation with interest and costs.

Mr. F. Sorabji Talyarkhan and Mr. D. F. Mulla, instructed by Messrs. Mulla, Mulla and Coy., appeared for the plaintiff; the Hon'ble Mr. M. R. Jardine and Mr. W. C. J. Shortt, instructed by Messrs. Crawford, Brown and Coy., were for the Railway Company.

The plaintiff stated that he was a merchant and before and at the time of the complaint was doing a very lucrative business as a firewood merchant, commission agent, mill and gin store-supplier and as a shroff at Baroda. On 25th June 1908 the plaintiff was received by the Company as a passenger to be by them safely and securely carried from Bombay to Baroda. The Company, however, failed to carry him safely and they so negligently and unskilfully conducted themselves in carrying the plaintiff and in managing their railway train and carriage in which the plaintiff was being carried by the defendants that the carriage and train came into violent collision with certain goods waggons standing at or near Itola station on the morning of the 26th June 1908. The plaintiff was by reason of such collision much injured and his chest, brain and spine received severe injuries which, in all probability, would be permanent. The plaintiff had in consequence suffered great pain and had been put to much expense and would be put to further expense and had been and was still prevented from pursuing his occupation and had lost and would lose the income which he otherwise would have earned. He, therefore, prayed as above stated.

The Company, in their written statement, did not admit that the plaintiff's injuries were as stated in the plaint or that they would in all probability be permanent. They said that the claim was greatly exaggerated and that they were willing to pay as compensation Rs. 500, together with his taxed costs upto date. They, accordingly, brought that amount in Court.

CLAIM BY ASSIGNEES.

Suit Remanded.

ON the Appellate Side of the Bombay High Court the Hon'ble Mr. Justice Sir Narayan G. Chandavarkar, and the Hon'ble Mr. Justice Heaton disposed of an appeal from a decision of the First Class Subordinate Judge of Nasik in the suit brought by Tukaram Krishnashah Habib and others against Dayanath N. Shimji to recover Rs. 2,261 with costs.

Mr. W. L. Weldon, instructed by Mr. A.G. Desai, appeared for the plaintiff-appellants; Mr. H.C. Coyaji, instructed by Mr. N. V. Gokhale, was for the defendant-respondent.

The plaintiffs as the assignees of two mortgages sued to recover the above mentioned amount by sale of the mortgaged property, being a house at Yeola, alleging that the same originally belonged to Abdul Hussein, Badrudin and Najaralli who had mortgaged it for Rs. 600 in January 1891 and for Rs. 375 in April 1899, that the plaint property was caused to be sold by the defendant in execution of a decree obtained by him against the mortgagor at a Court sale and that the defendent with the permission of the Court purchased it, and that he had become the owner of equity of redemption.

The defence was that the claim was barred by limitation, that the suit was barred under section 283 of the Civil Procedure Code or under section 13 or 14 of the same Act, that the plaintiffs could not maintain this suit and that the mortgages were illegal and without consideration. The suit was originally tried by Mr. G. W. Kamitkar, Subordinate Judge, who held that the claim was barred by limitation that the suit was barred and that the plaintiffs could not maintain this suit. He accordingly dismissed it with costs.

Against that the plaintiffs appealed and Mr. Gulabdass Laldass, First Class Sub-judge, who heard it, dismissed with costs.

After hearing the arguments of Counsel their Lordships reversed the decree of the Court and remanded the suit for disposal on the merits by the Court of first instance. The plaintiffs to have their costs throughout so far incurred. The costs to be incurred hereafter to be costs in the suit.

POLICE COURT.

PREFERRING A FALSE CHARGE.

Yesterday, at the Mazagon Police Court, before Rao Bahadur C. H. Setalwad, Fourth Presidency Magistrate, Excise Inspector Strip charged Currim Punja, a dealer in oil at Lalwadi and Issa Alji, a native of Dhandhuka, with giving false information to a public servant, getting up false evidence, and preferring a false charge against one Harkoo Dhondu, a rival shop keeper on Duncan Road.

Mr. B. J. Dhondi, pleader, appeared for the Collector of Bombay; Mr. N. N. Saher, Bar.-at-law, with Mr. Visaji, pleader, defended the first and Mr. Balubhai Desai, pleader, appeared for the second accused.

The complaint was that the parties were at loggerheads. In December 1909 the complainant charged the first accused with assault and subsequently he accompanied by a Parsee went to the complainant's shop and asked him to settle the case. On the complainant refusing to do so, they both threatened that he would not be allowed to conduct his business there. The case of assault was to be heard on the 21st December. It appears that for the four days previous to that date the first accused sent the second accused to the complainant's shop to buy oil daily. On the 20th the second accused, after purchasing the oil lay an oil tin and another box, apparently containing sweets and left telling the complainant to keep them there until his return. He failed to return and on the 21st December, the first accused employed one Currim Jeria to give certain information to Mr. Strip, who raided the complainant's shop and found the tin box in which he found 379 grains of cocaine. The complainant explained how he had come by the box. The complainant was placed before the Commissioner of Police who discharged him and asked the Police and the excise officers to make enquiries regarding the persons who had left the box. On the 25th January Currim was arrested and on information given by him both the accused were arrested.

The first accused said he knew nothing about the matter and he did not know the second accused.

The second accused said he did not know the first accused.

The Magistrate fined the first accused Rs. 300 with the alternative of three months' rigorous imprisonment; the second accused was fined Rs. 201 with the option of two months' rigorous imprisonment.

CAUSING GRIEVOUS HURT.

At the Mazagon Police Court, before Mr. C. H. Setalwad, Fourth Presidency Magistrate, Inspector Canty yesterday charged Devi Mattadni, a Pardeshi with causing grievous hurt to Kashibai woman by cutting her nose with a razor.

The complaint was that the woman who was living with Ganpat, a Hindu, was often asked by the accused to go and live with him (the accused). She refusing he followed her as she was going along Foras Road and cut off her nose and ran away. A townsman going along the road chased him and securing him handed him over to the police. The woman is in the hospital. The Magistate remanded further inquiry.

TRAFFIC IN COCAINE.

Before Mr. J. W. S. Dracup, Third Presidency Magistrate, yesterday, Inspector Lewis charged a Mahomedan named Ismail Juma with being in possession of 17 grains of cocaine without a license.

The accused, who pleaded guilty, was fined Rs. 5.

SENT TO WORKHOUSE.

At the Esplanade Police Court, yesterday, before Mr. J. W. S. Dracup, Third Presidency Magistrate, Sub-Inspector Holmes charged Walter Middleton, a European, with having no visible means of subsistance and no fixed place of residence.

The accused was arrested on Sunday night at the Esplanade Road, where he was found begging for alms.

The accused said he was a clerk and if he got time, he would try and get some work.

Mr. Holmes informed the Court that the accused was a deserter from the Government Workhouse.

His Worship ordered him to be sent back to the Workhouse.

THEFT IN CRAWFORD MARKET.

Inspector Spiers yesterday charged Pitibai, a Hindu woman, with the theft of a quantity of vegetable, before Mr. J. W. S. Dracup, Third Presidency Magistrate.

The accused was arrested by a policeman yesterday morning with the vegetables in her possession. Subsequently Ganpat Tukaram, a vegetable dealer at the Crawford Market, identified the property as his.

The accused pleaded guilty and was fined Rs. 5 with the alternative of five days' simple imprisonment.

THE GOVERNMENT PLEADER.

Mr. Lalloobhai Atmaram Shah, who has been appointed to act as Government Pleader, vice Mr. G. S. Rao, who is appointed judge, took charge of his office on Saturday last.

MR. JUSTICE GANPAT RAO.

THE Hon'ble Mr. Justice Ganpat Sadashiv Rao, the newly appointed Judge of the Bombay High Court to act during the absence of the Hon'ble Mr. Justice N. C. Macleod proceeding on leave, took his seat on the Bench yesterday in the second divisional Appellate Court with the Hon'ble Mr. Justice S. L. Batcheler.

As a mark of appreciation and respect at the new appointment, a very large number of pleaders were present in Court.

With a view to giving effect to the desire expressed by the members of the Pathare Prabhu community, to which Mr. Justice Rao belongs, to present him with a congratulatory address and an entertainment on behalf of the community, on his elevation to the Bench of the High Court, a preliminary meeting was held in the hall of Mr. Nanu Narayen Kothare, on Sunday under the presidency of Lieut.-Col. M. R. Kirtikar, I. M. S. On the motions of Rao Bahadur Vasudew Jagonnath Kirtikar, Rao Bahadur Dhakji Cassinathji and Mr. Narayen Gajanan Jayakar, B.A., it was decided to hold an entertainment and to request the several literary institutions obtaining in the Prabhu caste, which had already resolved to do honour to Mr. Justice Rao, to give up their individual functions and join the community's entertainment. Messrs. Raghunandan Nanu Narayen Kothare, Harischandra Sadashiv Naik, B.A., and Narayen Gajanan Jayakar, B.A., were appointed secretaries of the Rao Entertainment Committee.

The president, in a lengthy speech, thanked Government for doing honour to the Pathare Prabhu community by electing one of its eminent members to the High Court Bench and felicitated Mr. Rao on his elevation on behalf of himself and of the community generally. He said he was especially proud of Mr. Rao's appointment as a Judge of the High Court in that he was Mr. Rao's contemporary and sometimes a comrade even, during the new judge's educational career in the Prabhu Seminary, Elphinstone Institution and Elphinstone College.

BANDMANN OPERA COMPANY.

"The Dollar Princess."

Bombay people evidently expected great things from "The Dollar Princess" when it was played last night for the first time in the city at the Empire Theatre by the Bandmann Opera Company. The building was crowded, a few seats in circle being the only spare room while from the cheaper parts of the house many people were turned away. The play proved to be equal to its reputation to be one thoroughly deserving of such a big audience and of the unstinted applause which they showered on it. Thanks to the admirable efforts of the principal members of the Company. Last night's performance was in every respect one of the most entertaining that one can remember in Bombay. The piece contains all the best elements of good musical comedy. Its music is always bright and attractive. It has a plot which is capable of sustaining one's interest and a witty smartly-written dialogue which is full of skilful repartee.

The story of the play does not demand a long description, dealing principally as it does with the training of a high-spirited overbearing young lady, who is the sister of an Oil King and therefore, of course, a Dollar Princess herself. In many respects Alice Conder and Freddy Fairfax are wild editions of Katherine and Patruchio and their original methods of love making form some of the most delightful passages in a delightful play. There are two other love stories, one of them of a wild young tom boy, a cousin of the Princess who falls in love with the Earl of Quorn. It should be explained that the Oil King's pet mania is to employ as his household servants only decayed members of the British Aristocracy. Thus he has a baronet as his butler and the earl for his head groom while presently Mr. Freddy Fairfax is employed by his sister as his Secretary. Finally the Oil King engages a pseudo-countess as his house-keeper and after she has turned out to be only a lion tamer, he makes the lady his wife.

To speak of the Company one must mention first the performances of Miss Florence Beech and Mr. James McGrath in the title role and that of Freddy Fairfax respectively and it is difficult to know which of the two to praise the more. The play unlike many musical comedies gives them a good deal of somewhat difficult acting to get through and all of it was remarkably well done with just the right amount of emphasis always on just the right notes. They also both had good singing parts and amongst the several very pleasant numbers which the play contains. One remembers particularly Mr. McGrath's song "My Dream of Love", and their duet, "The Dollar Princesses" which is set to the Waltz air borrowed from "The Waltz Dream." As this dashing Daisy Miss Connie Leon was always charming and she and her vis-a-vis Mr. George Arnold as the earl made a couple who were scarcely less interesting than the principals. Mr. Fred Coyne was an admirable Oil King with Miss Wilmot Carkeek as his lion-tamer and together they danced an original and clever dance in the second act. The piece contains a very humourous part for Mr. Harry Cole, that of Mr. Bulger the millionaire's confidential clerk and it is unnecessary to say that the versatile comedian fills it splendidly and kept the audience in fits of laughing at every one of his appearances. Mr. Alfred Frith should also be mentioned for his playing of the baronet butler. Altogether one may repeat, the play is a thorough success, one of the best the Company has ever made, and it ought to draw another packed house when it is repeated this evening.

BOMBAY RUGBY TOURNAMENT.

WEST RIDING REGIMENT vs. BOMBAY GYMKHANA.

The first match of the Bombay Rugby Tournament was played at the Cooperage last night, when a big crowd saw a poor game in which the West Ridings who won the tournament last year knocked out the Bombay Gymkhana, by 14 points to nil. The Gymkhana had to take the field without their full-back C. D. Baker and also Ward, while the West Ridings were able to play few of the men who appeared for them last year. However, their game did not appear to have suffered and they beat their opponents with ease. Their forwards were distinctly the best part of the Gymkhana team, the men behind the scrum being weak both in attack and defence and with the West Riding backs very rarely attempting passing the games was distinguished mainly by loose forward play and was uninteresting.

The soldiers early had the Gymkhana pinned in others own twenty-five, but it was about fifteen minutes from the start before Turner dropped a nice goal for the visitors. Only on rare occasions did the Gymkhana look dangerous. Their three-quarters had one passing run, but they failed to make any ground. Just before half time Morris tried to drop a goal, but the kick was charged down and play was transferred to mid-field where it remained until the whistle sounded.

Early in the second half Cornish scored an unconverted try and Morris had a fine drop at goal which only just failed to meet with success. A minute later, however, he scored, but the try was not converted. He followed this by scoring another dropped goal and the match ended as stated. Result:—

West Ridings........................... 14 points.
Bombay Gymkhana...................... 0

SUICIDE BY BURNING.

Mr. G. F. Chalk, Coronor of Bombay, held an inquest at the Morgue yesterday morning, touching the death of a Mohamedan woman named Mariambai, aged about twenty-five and residing at Ripon Road.

It appeared that the deceased had constant quarrels with her mother-in-law and a few days ago she struck her mother-in-law on the hand the latter retaliating by striking her with a blowpipe on her knee. On Saturday evening both had quarreled about nine o'clock at night. Her husband and mother-in-law who were on the road in front of the house, saw the deceased running down the staircase with her clothes on fire. Her husband and the neighbours immediately ran to her assistance and put out the flames, but not before she was extensively burnt all over her body. She was removed to Sir J. J. Hospital where, before Dr. Lafond, the House Surgeon, she admitted having poured oil on her clothes and person and having set them on fire with the intention of committing suicide. She did not rally and died in the hospital yesterday morning.

The jury returned a verdict of suicide by burning.

protects the skin from the hottest sun or coldest wind. Invaluable for immediately curing chaps, sunburn, insect bites and abrasions and for preventing blueness from cold. Cannot grow hair, requires no powder to hide it and does away with the necessity of dangerous greasy skin foods. For giving lasting clean cool comfort and healthy transparency of skin it has no equal.

MEN find it particularly soothing after shaving—rubbed in over night it makes the morning shave surprisingly easy.

BY THE WAY.

THE "FRAM'S" THIRD POLAR TRIP.

Captain Roald Amundsen, who a fortnight ago set out from Christiansand for the North Polar Basin, has been granted by the Norwegian Government the use of the famous "Fram," which took Nansen within four degrees of the Pole fourteen years ago, and was utilised for the Sverdrup expedition in 1898. Captain Amundsen intends to drift with the moving ice from Point Barrow across the Polar Basin, carrying out oceanographical investigations, and will reach his starting-point via Cape Horn and the Pacific. He has no designs on the Pole, but does not except to get through the ice on the Spitzbergen side of the Basin until 1916. The death of Captain Engelstad, under remarkable circumstances, was a serious loss to the expedition, as he was to have commanded the "Fram." While experimenting with kites on one of the Norway fjords for meteorological purposes a thunderstorm came on, and the experiments were temporarily stopped. One kite was, however, left flying attached by a length of copper-wire to a winch, and Captain Engelstad was instantaneously electrocuted by accidentally coming into contact with the winch.

GERMANY'S UNIVERSITY STUDENTS.

The number of students matriculated at the twenty-one German Universities during the present summer semester was not less than 54,854 (of whom 2,169 were women), as compared with 51,700 in the year 1909, and 33,700 in 1900. The increase of students since the preceding year was principally in the faculty of philosophy, where the number rose from 13,911 to 15,475, and in the medical faculty, where it increased from 9,462 to 10,882. The four largest Universities are those of Berlin with 7,902 students, Munich with 6,890, Leipzic with 4,592, and Bonn with 4,070. Next in order come those of Freiburg with 2,884 students, Halle with 2,451, Breslau with 2,432, Heideberg with 2,413, Gottingen with 2,353, Marburg with 2,192, Tubingen with 2,061, Munster with 2,007, Strassburg with 1,964, Jena with 1,817, Kiel with 1,760, Wurzburg with 1,429, Konigsberg with 1,381, Giessen with 1,334, Erlangen with 1,030, Greifswald with 1,029, and Rostock with 834. These statistics are supplied by the "Lancet."

REMOVING CHURCHES.

By removing bodily for distance of ten yards the steeple of the church at Bochow the people of the little Belgian town have accomplished a remarkable but by no means an unique operation. Only last year, at Leigh-on-Sea, a church was removed from one side of a street to the other by means of a traction engine. Another novel "flitting" was witnessed in Glasgow in 1899, when St. Bride's Episcopal Church was removed from Baconsfield-road to a new site in Hyndland-road. The task was accomplished only with extreme difficulty, for the route had a steep gradient, and the church weighed about sixty tons, affording seating accommodation for over a hundred persons. The building was raised on "on jacks" and pulled along soaped planks until it reached the roadway, where, four massive wheels were attached, and it was dragged to its new position by traction engines. In America, where the construction of the buildings renders the task less difficult, wholesale removals of this kind are not unrare.

"A CANTANKEROUS CRANK."

Four months before W. J. Gaynor, Mayor of New York, assumed office he was, according to an extremely interesting character-sketch in the August number of the "World's Work," represented by nearly every newspaper in New York as "an irascible, cantankerous, peevish crank, who thought himself misunderstood": To-day (the writer points out) he is generally recognised as a patient official of large vision, whose capabilities have indeed been unappreciated. He was elected on a Tammany ticket over the vituperative opposition of professional reformers, but he has in six months done more to reform the city government than an anti-Tammany mayor ever succeeded in doing. His candidacy alone was used to depress city bonds, but within ninety days of his administration he had introduced economies saving the city £340,000 a year, and increasing its borrowing power £6,800,000. That is something to be proud of, but also something which is apt to stir the wrath of the type of persons who has nothing to gain and a good deal to lose by an honest man being in office.

THE MAYOR'S MOTTO.

But Mr. Gaynor is not the man to bear malice. "I forgive everything every night. Let not the sun go down upon thy wrath," he said to Mr. Hale, the writer of the article in question, when touching upon the subject of misrepresentation that had followed him. And he evidently has the gift of humour as well as the grace of tolerance, for only the other day "he kept a dinner company alternately between laughter and something like tears" as he talked about the little wooden school house at Skeeterboro, where he, the farmer's son, received his first schooling some fifty odd years ago.

THE WHALE AS FOOD.

The report of an American project of catching the whale and canning him for eating purposes recalls Frank Buckland's experiment with the whale as a breakfast dish. Buckland who tried to eat all things, heard of a stranded whale at Gravesend, and at once hurried thither. Despite protests from its guardian —"Don't get on top of him ; you might burst him," warned that worthy—Buckland scaled the monster, and walked its length—56ft. Afterwards with the assistance of Dr. Murie, he dissected it. "Murie and I cut off various parts for dissection; took home a lot of the flesh to eat, but found it too strong, even when boiled with charcoal." With the price of meat what it is one scarcely likes to discourage this latest experiment. But what chance has the ordinary luncher where Buckland failed?

NOVEL INSURANCE.

The good people of Frankfort seem to have gone one better than the recent innovation at Lloyd's to insure against bad weather during holidays. The Frankforters have started a company to insure the life of dogs. Whether the policies are for endowment or annuities, or for death only, we do not know, nor is the name of the company given, but a Paris contemporary suggests that it will probably be the "Hundenlebenversicherunggesellschaft," or something approaching it. The idea of insuring children's lives is not pleasant, but the prospect of making money out of the death of the friend of man is more repellent. Such an idea was not in the notion stage when Lamartine declared. "The more I see of men, the more I love dogs." If it had been the aphorism would probably have been more scathing.

DEFENCE NOT DEFIANCE.

A new trade protection society has been born in Paris that of "des marchands de mouron." There are about one hundred of these purveyors of the weed so dear to birds. The vendor is popular. He is a philosopher without knowing it, a kind of Diogenes who want only light and air and permission to chant to his heart's desire, "Mouron pour les p'tits oi-seau." He gets through his business in about an hour before noon, sometimes accompanied by his little dog, and the more opulent of the order have a small cart. In the afternoon, if he feel so inclined, he gets out to gather his weed, in the environs of the city, upon the plateau de Sartrouville, in the Champs d'Acheres, or in les bois de Vaucresson. The gatherer is independent, his own master, and enjoys the fresh air in which he gains his daily bread. He walks from 25 to 30 kilometres (16 to 18 miles) for the little weed with the white flower, which the little birds find so dainty.

LINLITHGOW PALACE.

Since Lord Rosebery gave expression to his views regarding the condition of Linlithgow Palace, public interest in the ancient historical structure has increased. The work of repair, which has been in progress for some months past, has just been finished for a time at least. The parts of the Palace to which attention had been directed were the old drawing-room and adjoining apartments, the stone work of which has been substantially pointed and decayed portions repairs and strengthened. The object, of course, is the protection and preservation of the ancient landmark, and by the periodical attention which has been given in his way much good has been effected in arresting decay.

NATURAL ERRORS.

At a banquet in New York, Canon Henson, according to the "Washington Star," describing the old dress of English Bishops, said: The Bishop of Bath and Wells had been visiting Scarborough. On the way to the train he lost his reckoning, and stopped a boy "I say, my lad, how far is it to the station?" he asked. "About a mile straight ahead," said the boy. Then, staring at the Bishop's knee breeches and silk stockings, he added: "What's up? Somebody swipe your bike?"

THE LADIES' CORNER.

DECADENCE OF THE ART OF DINING.

In Paris they are complaining just now that the art of dining is decadent. "The times are out of joint for the true epicure," says one of the writers of the day. The world no longer takes an interest in what has been called "les contemplations gastronomiques," nor do they show the discriminating taste of the diner-out of a year or two ago. To the epicure, who puts food before everything, indifference to the pleasures of the tables, is of course, a sign of decline, of decadence. It has been said somewhere that interest in cookery always makes its appearance side by side with a devotion to bellesletttres, to an awakening of an interest in art, science, and culture. The eighteenth century—that day of Pope, of Dryden, and Swift—was also an age of an appreciation of cookery. "La Reine Anne," said an old French author of the next generation—appreciatively, of course—"etait tres gourmande ; elle ne dedaignait pas de s'entretenir avec son cuisinier."

HURRIED DINNERS.

In England to-day, in London this season, dinner-giving is certainly not a strong point. The woman who entertains, and entertains at home, may have busied herself with her cook in dutiful fashion, but the old zest is gone. Dinner is a meal to dispose of as quickly as a rapid service will allow. No one wants to linger over courses, toying with little rognons sautes au Champagne or filets de sole Marinette. One doubts very much whether George Augustus Sala, who knew more about cookery than any man of his time, would have been read to-day, at least, so far as his criticisms of good fare are concerned, if he appeared as a new author. The old Victorian interest in dinner-giving, the interest of the 'nineties in the great meal of the day, which survived till a few years ago, was probably quenched by bridge. The mania for cards made the long dinner a superfluity. The knowledge that the card-tables were already waiting in the drawing-room was quite sufficient to stultify the dinner wit of the brightest dinner-out. In fact, the conversational guest, the raconteur who could always be certain of bringing with him half a dozen new stories, no longer found his chimney-piece crowded with invitations, unless he could play a good hand at bridge, and swallow his bon mots untold with a hastily served five or six course dinner. There must, however, be other reasons nowadays, since the world is not such a slave to cards, and the race from the dining-room is not always to settle a rubber with shilling points.

INFLUENCE OF ECONOMY.

To most people to-day the absorption in the good things of the table, perhaps, hardly seems worth the candle. We should be a little ashamed, privately, of the grande finesse de gout, on which the old gourmets prided themselves, even if it failed to take up to the length of the famous old Paris cliques, the members of which pledged themselves never to eat partridges other than those of Auverge, to shun rabbits except those from Roche Guyon, and eat only the veau de riviere and other delicacies. With economy as a household word, whatever the income, the extravagances of good living would be a little out of place to-day. The veal of Pontoise, fed on cream and biscuits, which was carried from Provence to Paris in special carriages, seems a ridiculous luxury nowadays. It is almost incredible to think that one of the most discussed authors a hundred years ago was the man who compiled the Almanach des Gourmands, which went through more editions than the most popular modern novel. The father of de la Reyniere—so it was said—was a fermier general, and was choked by attempting to swallow too voraciously a slice of pate-deifoie-grass, a devotion to food which descended to his son. In Paris the decline of interest in the delicacies of the table the critic ascribes to the modern hurry. A Frenchwoman is too busy over the frivolities of her toilette, too full of social engagements, interested in her jewelles, to worry about her chef. The chef may not exist to-day who would take his life—as did Vatel—because his dinner was spoiled by the omission of one course: but his successor in the big hotels of the Chaussee d' Antin cannot cook without an audience. There is no longer any point in being original if neither host nor guest detects the master-hand in a new sauce, invented as the Scotch piper composes an air, in celebration of a family or a social event.

THE DISAPPEARING GOURMAND.

In England, if it is not frivolity, let us hope that loss of gastronomic interest has a healthier sign. The woman of the day has too many interests at stake, too strong an idea of the value of money, of time, and of interest to devote the hours to thinking out a diner de luxe. For the same reason, lunch at home is one of the simplest meals to-day in country houses. It is no longer done to laden the lunch table. The best, the most correct form, socially speaking is the simplest. It is the same with dinner. An interest in matters of the day the busy lives so many women lead in voluntary work of some kind are not conducive to the formation of the gourmande or the gourmet. We ought to be glad that it is so.

GENERAL FRENCH'S REPORT ON THE CANADIAN FORCES.

It is understood that Gen. French's report on the Canadian Forces makes three cardinal representations:—First, that the peace organisation should be such as to enable it to take the field at once in the event of war; secondly, that better staffs should be in command of brigade divisions; and, thirdly, that the period of annual training is inadequate. He urges that instead of the present system of commands and military districts there should be divisional organisation, and that this desirable step should not be prevented by local influences. He states that in place where a cavalry or artillery unit is needed an infantry regiment has sometimes been established through local pressure. As regards the annual training period, Gen. French suggests that the artillery should be in camp twenty-one days, the cavalry sixteen days, and the infantry twelve days. He finds that city regiments devote too much time to purely ceremonial movements, and do too little practical work. He admits that there is good material in the Militia, but he emphasis the need of better qualified officers, and insists that the present peace organisation could not prove effective in the event of hostilities.

In the official trials of the new Austro-Hungarian battleship "Admiral Spaun," at Trieste, on Saturday, a speed of 27·07 knots was attained; this was 1·07 knots over the contract speed. The "Admiral Spaun" is the first battleship in the Austro-Hungarian navy to be fitted with turbine engines. She was built at the naval arsenal at Pola, but the engines and boilers were supplied by the Stabilimento Tecnico at Trieste.

The death took place on Aug. 9, at Church Stretton, Shropshire, of Capt. Tristram Charles Sawyer Speedy, at the age of seventy-three. He was the eldest son of the late Major James Speedy, the Buffs, and in 1854 received his commission in the 81st Foot, and after serving in the Punjab during the Indian Mutiny retired from the Army in 1861. Subsequently he travelled in Abyssinia, and for 18 months was the guest of King Theodore. In the expedition of 1867 he served in the Intelligence Department on the staff of Sir Robert Napier, afterwards Lord Napier of Magdala. After a period spent as guardian to the late Prince Alamayn, son of King Theodore, he was appointed in 1869 District Superintendent of Police in Oudh, afterwards becoming Commissioner of Police in Penang and Resident at Larut, Straits Settlements. In Sir W. Hewitt's mission to the Emperor Johannis of Abyssinia in 1884 he acted as interpreter, and again in 1897 was attached to the British Mission to the Emperor Menelek.

The ALBION MILK and SULPHUR SOAP is a highly agreeable and beneficial Luxury for the Toilet Bath and Nursery and leaves the skin in a pure, refreshed and healthy condition, delicately perfumed, Chemists, Grocers, etc., sell it.

MEN AND MATTERS.

MR. BALFOUR'S CURE.

Mr. Balfour's Austrian cure will, it is hoped, set him up again. When he won the Parliamentary Golf Handicap for the third time, so expansive a smile lit up so brown a countenance that all his friends dismissed any idea of his suffering from serious ill-health. But a rapid change took place, and his voice was very bad indeed when he spoke upon Women's Suffrage. Threatened men live long, and it must be remembered that twenty-five years ago Mr. Balfour's family had almost given him up. Lord Salisbury tried an entirely novel kind of rest cure, sending his nephew to govern Ireland, then in open revolt against the law. The experiment succeeded. Mr. Balfour's nature responded like pliant steel, and he has been a great worker ever since. Still, there are those who think that certain passages in his career are only to be explained by the lassitude which follows his complaint—a kind of recurrent influenza. When he resigned so suddenly in 1903, he was far from well, and it is, I am afraid, a little doubtful how far his strength would be maintained if he were called upon again to fulfill the crushing duties of premiership—duties which killed Sir Henry Campbell Bannerman in two and a half years, and which have perceptibly aged Mr. Asquith. Possibly Mr. Balfour would go to the House of Lords for rest—like Lord Ridley—yet this Government would almost depend upon his continuing leader in the Commons. It is always and for obvious reasons difficult to discuss these personal matters in print. Mr. Garvin, in the Observer, used to tell the plain truth about "C.-B." until, it is said he received a hint that his newspaper formed part of the aged Prime Minister's Sunday reading. Then, well—the bulletins were adapted to the feelings of the patient. It is often so in journalism. If the Press were once to tell what it knows, what a reputation it would win for past descretion!

"AND GOOD JUDGES, TOO."

Mr. Horace Edmund Avory, K. C., and Mr. Thomas Gardner Horridge, K.C., who have been selected to be the new High Court judges, and both extremely able lawyers and men who are highly esteemed in the legal world. Mr. Avory, who will be remembered as the counsel for Mr. Herbert Druce in that cause celebre, the Druce case, and as the prosecuting counsel in the long-winded Bottomley trial, is in his fifty-ninth year. He is a London King's College man, and after a distinguished career in the schools, went to Cambridge. In 1875 he joined the Bar of the Inner Temple. After this, his progress was rapid. He became Junior Counsel to the Treasury at the Central Court and, eleven years ago, Senior Counsel. He has probably defended more murderers than any living counsel, and he figured prominently in such famous trials as those of Whitaker Wright, Lynch, the Jameson Raiders, and the Liberator fraud. Cross-examination is his strongest point, and the wearing witness must, indeed, be possessed of abnormal qualities if he does not crumple up under the ardour of Mr. Avory's onslaught. Some good stories are told of his gift of caustic repartee. Once, in a case, his learned opponent cited a text from the Book of Job. Mr. Avory was on his feet in an instant, Raising his eyebrows, he looked inquiringly at the judge. "I do not think Job's evidence is admissible he said quietly. "You see, we cannot put him in witness box." Once Mr. Avory met someone who proved too much for him. "Let me see," he said to a witness for the other side, "you've been convicted, haven't you?" "Yes, sir," answered the man, "but it was due to the incapacity of my counsel rather than to any guilt on my part." "It always is," said Mr. Avory grimly, "and you have my sincere sympathy." "And I deserve it," retorted the man "seeing that you were my counsel on that occasion."

"MY LEARNED BROTHER."

Mr. Horridge is a Lancashire man. He is the only son of Mr. John Horridge, of Bolton, and before he was called to the Bar was a Southport solicitor. He is one of the familiar figures on the Northern Circuit, and his eloquence has often been heard to great advantage in the assize court in St. George's Hall, Liverpool. It was here that an amusing incident occurred which helps to illustrate the new judge's ready wit. A brick-setter giving evidence in a case answered all the questions put to him in such a dulcet tone that neither the judge nor jury could hear a word. "Speak up, man!" said the judge, in a tone of exasperation. "These twelve gentlemen want to hear you. You'd talk louder if they were twelve bricks." "As I certainly hope they are," said Mr. Horridge, beaming blandly at the jury on behalf of his client.

A WELCOME HEIR.

The birth of an heir to Lord and Lady Dalmeny was extremely popular in Society, where the young couple are very well known. There is still some probability that his lordship will one day return to politics, though for the present he prefers the life of a country gentleman. In due course, the newly born heir will inherit an immense estate and will be one of the wealthiest peers in England. Lord Dalmeny is extremely fond of a joke, and when walking through the park from which he takes his title a few years ago he was approached by a tourist and asked if there was any objection to him fishing in a certain lake. "Not the slightest," was his prompt reply, and he went on his way. He returned to the spot some hours later and found the tourist seated on the bank. The latter ventured to remark that it did not seem to yield very good sport and that so far he had not had a single bite. "Oh, no," was the cheerful reply, "I didn't suppose you would have. All the fish were taken out of this lake some time ago!"

"THE DANDY LAWYER."

Sir William Robson, Great Britain's leading counsel at The Hague Arbitration Tribunal, has been described as "the Dandy Lawyer," and certainly he is one of the best-dressed members of his profession. But his white spats and whiter waistcoats are but the outward and visible sign of the courage of his convictions, which are such that he once refused a brief marked at £10,000! Sir William has all the the intricacies of the law at his fingers ends, although he is by no means the dry and serious individual one might imagine him to be. He is a brilliant speaker and has a ready wit, and as a gentleman he once defended said of him: "He seems to get on good terms with his audience, and though he pretends to be jesting with them, he is all the time working home his point." On one occasion in the House of Commons, when he was member for South Shields, after a lengthy debate, a member from the Opposition bench complained with a touch of bitterness that evidently Sir William could not swallow his argument. "No," said Sir William without hesitation, "I don't want to die of indigestion!"

AN AUTHORITY ON THE BRAIN.

Sir Victor Horsley, who was one of the chief speakers at the Congress of Medical Men at the Imperial Institute, enjoys the distinction of being one of the greatest authorities on brain surgery in the world. He is, perhaps, the pioneer of operations on the brain—a work which requires the steadiest of hands, and nerves of steel, and it was through such an operation that he first sprang into fame. A patient was brought to him suffering from a tumour on the brain, a complaint, which, at that time, was considered almost incurable. To the horror of the medical word he announced his intention of removing the tumour by means of an operation, and in spite of medical opinion, which was all against him, he succeeded in doing so. The subject of alcohol and its effect, on the human body has long been a favourite study of Sir Victor's and some years back he pointed out the little less than extraordinary way in which milk was taking the place of alcohol in the treatment of disease at the London hospitals. In 1862 Sir Victor pointed out that seven of the great London hospitals spent £3,000 on milk and over £8,000 on alcohol, while now the amount spent on milk reaches the sum which was recently expended on liquor. A short time ago a friend waylaid Sir Victor Horsley in his club. "Halloa, Horsley," he said, "can you tell us what whisky is yet!" "Tell you what whisky is?" replied Sir Victor. "Certainly It is the most popular poison in the world, my friend."

THE NATION'S NEW PICTURE.

The large portrait group representing the Council of the Royal Academy, 1907, by Sir Hubert Herkomer, has been presented to the Tate Gallery by the artist. Professor Herkomer is a striking example of what success means in England. Years ago, the Professor will tell you, his mother had to gather together thirty shillings every week to keep her large family, and very often it was a hard struggle for her. When young Herkomer began to feel his feet, his family decided that he should build himself a house, and his present palace was the result. "When I started," he says, "I had nothing. Now my house and its contents are worth £100,000. And," he adds, with a twinkle, "I am not in debt." Nothing artistic comes amiss to him. He plays the zither, and in his early days he played professionally on that instrument. He composes also and publishes music.

LIGHT-BROWN COD LIVER OIL

THE PUREST. THE MOST PALATABLE. THE MOST DIGESTIBLE. THE MOST EFFICACIOUS.

Incontestably proved by Forty Years' Medical Experience to be The only Cod Liver Oil which produces the full curative effects in

CONSUMPTION AND DISEASES OF THE CHEST, THROAT AFFECTIONS, GENERAL DEBILITY, DISEASES OF THE SKIN, WASTING DISEASES OF CHILDREN, RICKETS, AND ALL SCROFULOUS DISORDERS.

SELECT MEDICAL OPINIONS.

SIR G. DUNCAN GIBB, Bart., M.D.,
Physician to the Westminster Hospital.

"The value of DR. DE JONGH'S LIGHT-BROWN COD LIVER OIL as a therapeutic agent in a number of diseases, chiefly of an exhaustive character, has been admitted by the world of medicine; but, in addition, I have found it a remedy of great power in the treatment of many Affections of the Throat and Larynx, especially in Consumption of the latter, where it will sustain life when everything else fails."

DR. SINCLAIR COGHILL,
Physician to the Royal National Hospital for Consumption, Ventnor.

"I have convinced myself that in Tubercular and the various forms of Strumous Disease, Dr. DE JONGH'S LIGHT-BROWN COD LIVER OIL possesses greater therapeutic efficacy than any other Cod Liver Oil with which I am acquainted. It was especially noted in a large number of cases in which the patients protested they had never been able to retain or digest other Cod Liver Oil, that DR. DE JONGH'S OIL was not only tolerated, but taken readily, and with marked benefit."

JOSEPH J. POPE Esq., M.R.C.S.,
Late Staff Surgeon, Army, Professor of Hygiene, Birkbeck Institution, London.

"I found during my Indian experience that the worth and character of DR. DE JONGH'S LIGHT-BROWN COD LIVER OIL remained unchanged by tropical heat or foreign climate, and it was, from its uniformity of character, particularly adapted for long-continued administration. The value of 'hydro-carbons' in all debilitated states of the system is now becoming thoroughly recognized; and it is, without doubt, from the animal oils, and fats, rather than from their vegetable substitutes, that we may hope to derive the surest benefit. The Oil of DR. DE JONGH places in everyone's reach a reliable and valuable remedy, one that cannot be too widely recognized."

DR. R. C. CROFT,
Author of "Handbook for the Nursery."

"DR. DE JONGH'S LIGHT-BROWN COD LIVER OIL is almost a specific in many of the Diseases peculiar to Infancy and Childhood, and I have seen marked benefit produced by its use. Patients prefer it to the Pale Oils, and are able to retain it more comfortably."

Dr. DE JONGH'S LIGHT-BROWN COD LIVER OIL is Supplied ONLY in IMPERIAL Half-Pints, Pints and Quarts, sealed with BETTS' Patent Capsule impressed on the top with DR. DE JONGH'S Stamp, and on the side with his Signature, and the Signature of ANSAR, HARFORD & Co.; and bearing under the wrapper a Label with the same Stamp and Signatures. WITHOUT THESE MARKS NONE CAN POSSIBLY BE GENUINE.

DR. DE ROOS' MEDICINES HAVE AN UNRIVALLED REPUTATION OF OVER FIFTY YEARS.

DR. DE ROOS'

WORLD-FAMED

GUTTÆ VITÆ

Or, LIFE DROPS.

The Great European Remedy for Nervous and Functional Exhaustion.

This extraordinary rejuvenating essence strengthens the vitality of the whole system, gives energy to the muscles, and speedily restores the impaired powers of life, imparting strength and manly vigour to the most debilitated and worn out constitution. Those who suffer from Premature Decay, or deficiency or the Vital Forces, owing to dissipation, worry, overwork, excesses, or any other cause, will find this medicine just what they require. Equally adapted for the studious and sedentary; the aged and infirm; the nervous and debilitated; as also for delicate females and weakly children. All sufferers from loss of appetite, nervous headache, lassitude, and despondency—too often accompanied with suidical thoughts—should make immediate and fair unprejudiced trial of this wonderful medicine, which is daily effecting the most remarkable cures in patients who had been given up by the Faculty as incurable, and left to drag out the remainder of their existence a misery to themselves, and a continual anxiety to their friends. In all cases of nervous and functional debility, epilepsy, impurity and poorness of the blood, aversion to and incapacity for society, study or business, giddiness, disturbed sleep, harassing dreams, loss of memory, and other symptoms, the result of self-acquired ailments that embitter and shorten life, it is truly unrivalled. To married persons especially, this preparation will prove invaluable, giving strength and vigour in place of lassitude and incompetency. Price 11s. or four times that quantity, 33s. Bottle.

Dr. DE ROOS' COMPOUND RENAL PILLS, for Pains in the Back, Gravel, Lumbago, Gout, Rheumatism, Diabetes, and all Kidney Affections; weakness of the loins, Sandy or other Deposits, Discharges and Diseases of the Urinary Organs generally. Price 2s. 9d.
